Records broken as Mississippi climbs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A river level recorded there in 1785 was broken Thursday night as the Mississippi River reached 42.16 feet and continued to rise to the predicted crest of 43.5 feet on Saturday, 13 and a half feet above flood stage.

The swollen Missouri, which has covered about 40 per cent of St. Charles County north of St. Louis, was receding after an early crest of 36.4 Thursday afternoon, short of the 36.7-foot prediction by the National Weather Service. Flood stage at St. Charles is 25 feet.

"This could be a false recession," George Hunt of the Corps of Engineers said Thursday night.

"The river could rise again after it fills in the areas now being flooded," Hunt said.

Corps officials said it was believed the Mississippi and Missouri formed a new confluence Thursday night, but they said they would know for sure after getting a better look at the rivers today.

Had that happened, a Corps spokesman said, an area of about 45 square miles between the two rivers might have become an island.

Sandbagging efforts by 200 volunteers continued today on Missouri 94 in St. Charles County. A portion of the highway had already been closed.

About 600 persons residing in mobile homes in the north part of St. Charles were evacuated Thursday after a levee formed along the Missouri-KansasTexas railroad embankment was topped by the swollen Missouri.

The towns of West Alton and Portage des Sioux were under water. The Coast Guard evacuated a few remaining residents from West Alton, a town of about 400. Deep water was reported in some homes at Portage des Sioux.

A helicopter pilot was injured slightly when his ship hit power lines and crashed near the Union Electric power plant near the city. The helicopter was one of five called to remove workers after a road became impassable.

The recent flooding claimed its 10th victim Thursday when Walter Huber, 32, an Indianapolis insurance man, drowned when his boat sank in the swollen Rock River near Rockford, Ill. Huber was assessing flood damage to homes along the river.

The Corps announced Thursday if the Mississippi reaches the 43.5-foot crest at St. Louis Saturday, $136 million in flood damage will have been caused in Missouri and Illinois. Current damage in the two states has been estimated at $43 million with 1.2 million acres inundated.

A graph compiled by the Corps indicated that if the river reached 43.0 here, damage would be $100 and an additional half-foot would result in $36 million more damage.

"A few inches can mean a hell of a lot, when you're talking about the Mississippi," a spokesman said.

President Nixon, who declared portions of Illinois a disaster area Thursday and portions of Missouri last week, was scheduled to fly over the flooding Mississippi Valley today.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond toured flooded areas of St. Charles and Jefferson counties Thursday.

At Arnold, Mo., where 400 homes in a subdivision were sitting in the floodwaters of the Meramec River, a Mississippi tributary south of St. Louis, Bond said, "The government will provide all of the follow-up healp. Our job is to see whatever is possible is done to prevent further damage."

The governor added that 2,000 Missouri National Guardsmen were on duty.

At Hannibal, north of St. Louis, the National Guard Armory was flooded and could not be used as planned for a disaster center. A record crest of 28.4 feet, 12.4 over flood stage, was reached at Hannibal Wednesday.

All but 250 of Grafton, Illinois' 1,100 residents had been evacuated and a curfew was imposed to prevent looting. The Mississippi at Grafton was to crest at 32.5 feet Sunday, 14.5 feet over flood stage.

At Kaskaskia Island, Coast Guard boats were standing by to evacuate about 55 of the island's 200 residents.

A corps spokesman said the situation on the island Thursday night was "critical" because of the 43-foot predicted crest at nearby Chester, Ill., for Sunday. The remaining 55 residents were assiting corps officials in sandbagging operations designed to protect their homes.

A crest of 45 feet on Sunday was predicted for Cape Girardeau, Mo., where flood stage is 32 feet. Both Cape Girardeau and St. Louis are protected by floodwalls designed to withstand 52-foot floods.

About 10,000 persons were being fed by the American Red Cross. They were either affected by flooding or working to control high water in Missouri and Illinois.

A Salvation Army spokesman said that agency was feeding some 10,000 persons a day in the St. Louis area. The spokesman said the agency was buying canned goods and other items because of a dwindling food supply.

Commercial navigation on the Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois rivers has been halted because of the danger of wavewash to threatened levees.

Bridges spanning the Mississippi to connect Missouri with Illinois remained open only at St. Louis, Chester and Cairo, Ill.

Ferrell is man of year

Mayor Frank Ferrell was named Sikeston's Man of the Year Thursday night at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at Ramada Inn. Dr. Carl Popp was presented the Distinguished Service Award.

Master of Ceremonies Sam Harbin, superintendent of Sikeston public schools, said Ferrell is a man interested in others who has pride in the community and is willing to work.

Ferrell called it a great honor for himself and his family.

Ferrell is beginning his second year as mayor of Sikeston. He is a landowner and has operated a successful business for the last 20 years.

"He has been recognized by four Missouri governors for his business ability by having him serve as supervisor of a state agency," Harbin said. "His most outstanding abilities are those of getting along with people. He is noted for accomplishing whatever tasks he undertakes and is a man proud of Sikeston and a man Sikeston should be proud of," Harbin continued.

"His involvement with people, organizations and our city, as well as his family and business, shows him to be a responsible person with much interest in his community, state and nation," Harbin said.

Ferrell has been or is a member of such organizations as the First Baptist Church, Explorer Scout program, Sikeston Chamber of Commerce, Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation, SeMo Shrine club, SeMo Shrine Mounted Patrol, Sikeston Elks Lodge 2319, Sikeston Lodge 310 AF & AM, Kingsway Chapter 144, Moolah Shrine Temple, El Camino Council 52, St. Louis Lodge of Perfection- Scottish Rite, People to People Chapter, American Legion, Sikeston Pilots Association and the Bootheel Democratic Club.

Ferrell has served as a member of the board of directors and vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, president of the airport board, president of the Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation, president of the Amvets Post, president of the People to People Chapter of Southeast Missouri, president and secretary- treasurer of the SeMo Shrine Club, general chairman of the SeMo Shrine Mounted Patrol annual horse shows and treasurer of the Men's Friendship Class of First Baptist Church.

He was a pilot and flight instructor during World War II, he was the first area civil defense commander, a volunteer fireman, deputy sheriff of Scott County and has been a member of the board of directors and executive board of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation.

He has served as secretary- treasurer of the Bootheel Democratic Club for 19 years, is a member of the City Council, has served as a transportation officer of the 35th Division of the National Guard unit located in Sikeston and as a member of the Civil Air Patrol and was instrumental in helping to organize the Amvets Post, the civil defense program, people to people chapter and the first annual Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo.

Ferrell has also been active in working with the American Cancer Society, Shriners Hospital, United Fund and Braille Foundation.

Dr. Popp was presented the Distinguished Service Award for his efforts in establishing the intensive care unit at Missouri Delta Community Hospital. He is director of the unit.

L. Goebel Patton, the guest speaker, told the audience "we'd better be better in accepting change; we should accept it as an opportunity and a challenge and not a threat."

Patton, a leading spokesman for education, is superintendent of schools in West Frankfort, Ill. He said people should be using their education more effectively. He said today we have more knowledge than anyone before in history, but less understanding.

He said educators are failing to orient youth towards work. There is great dignity in any job, he said, if the job is done well.

Man of the year

Court explains bid decision on caterpillar

BENTON — Ed Kaiser, a representative of Missouri - Illinois Tractor and Equipment Co., met with the Scott County Court Thursday to ask why his low bid for a caterpillar was not accepted instead of a higher one by Fabick Bros. Equipment Co. of Sikeston.

The court told Kaiser that more than money was involved in the decision, including the fact that Fabick Bros. Equipment Co. is in Scott County and many men working for the county prefer Fabick's brand of equipment.

Kaiser told the court he was not angry because his bid wasn't accepted but that from now on he would not submit a bid since it would not be considered.

Dr. B. F. Holly of Illmo, who retired as special road district commissioner of Illmo- Scott City, asked the court to appoint Paul Davidson as his replacement.

Holly told the court Davidson is a rural mail carrier and would be ideal for the court since he knows the roads and their problems.

The court told Holly it could not appoint Davidson but a vote would be taken in Illmo and Scott City between Davidson and another person whose name had been submitted for the position.

Holly told the court this would not be fair since there are more aldermen in Scott City than in the Illmo district.

Dale Hartline of Imperial Floor Covering at Morehouse gave the court estimates on carpeting for the offices of circuit clerk, probate court, recorder's office, assessor's office, county clerk's office and county collector's office.

Other bids for carpeting the offices will be taken.

The court announced it will take bids for legal books for the circuit clerk's office.

Due to recent adjustments in local expenses for mileage through an agreement between the court and the Scott County Extension Council, more time is being alloted for an agronomist and youth specialists to spend in Scott County.

Agronomist John Garrett will spend at least two days a week in Scott County to assist farmers. The regularly scheduled days will be Wednesday and Thursday. Additional time will be spent when necessary for any emergencies or crisis situations.

Dee Allen Goedeke, youth agent for Scott County, will be in the Scott County Extension Center on regularly announced dates. Again, as needed situation arise, he will be in Scott County as much as his schedule will allow.

CAP on alert

The Civil Air Patrol of the state of Missouri has been called on a statewide alert for air surveillance and air transportation, according to Hugh T. McCollum, squadron commander of the Sikeston CAP unit.

The patrol alert was called to carry out air surveillance of the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers and the flood situations surrounding them.

McCollum received notice of the mission Thursday night. The patrol will have crews at Hannibal, Columbia, St. Louis, Cape Girardeau and Sikeston. Mission headquarters will be in St. Louis with a sub- base in Sikeston.

The patrol operates on a volunteer basis and at this time, McCollum said he does not know which location the Sikeston unit will be called to serve.

First high official resigns

New dimension to Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sudden, unexplained resignation of former Nixon campaign deputy Jeb S. Magruder from the Commerce Department adds a new dimension to the Watergate scandal.

It was the first resignation of any high administration official involved in the widening wire-tap affair.

In another development, The Washington Post, The New York Times and New York Daily News quoted sources as saying that Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III destroyed documents belonging to convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. after being told by presidential aides John Ehrlichman and John W. Dean III that the documents should "never see the light of day."

Enrlichman issued a statement through the White House press office confirming that at a June 1972 meeting in his White House office Dean gave Gray a sealed envelope containing "some of the contents of Hunt's safe."

"Mr. Gray was told by Mr. Dean that the contents were sensitive materials not in any way related to the Watergate case," said the statement. "I was present but neither than nor at any other time did I give Mr. Gray any request, suggestion or instruction regarding what should be done with the contents."

Dean and Gray could not be reached for comment.

Magruder reportedly had been both an accuser and an accused in case. He left his $36,000 - a - year job as Commerce Department director of policy development without formal notice. His lawyer, James J. Bierbower, was asked late Thursday night for an explanation, and said flatly, "There will be none."

Recent news reports have quoted Magruder as telling federal prosecutors that Mitchell and Dean, the White House counsel, approved and helped plan last summer's wiretapping of Democratic offices. Magruder also reportedly said the pair later arranged payoffs to silence the defendants in the case.

Dean has said publicly he won't be a scapegoat and has vowed privately to implicate others. News reports say Magruder broke down only after Dean made accusations of his own to prosecutors.

Magruder has declined to speak to newsmen since reports of his accusations broke into print. His lawyer has said he advised him not to make public statements.

In other Watergate developments:

— The Washington Post, quoting reliable sources, said that Dean told President Nixon on March 20 that "to save the presidency" Dean and Nixon's two top aides - H. R. Haldeman and Ehrlichman- would have to disclose all they knew about Watergate and face the possible consequence of going to jail. The Post said

Red Cross funds are running out for flood victims

Little or no funds are left in the Missouri- Illinois Red Cross region appropriations for victims of the Mississippi River flood, according to the Rev. Pipes Jones, chairman of the Scott County Chapter of the Red Cross.

A great deal has been spent in Scott, Mississippi and New Madrid counties, the Rev. Mr. Jones said, and rent is being paid for four families in Scott County. Hundreds more are receiving aid from the other river counties.

The Red Cross is hard pressed to raise funds to finance the immediate and urgent needs of those who must quickly be moved, clothed and fed. Over $28 million has already been spent in 1973. It is apparent that adequate funds to see the Red Cross through the critical months which are to follow are not at hand.

The Rev. Mr. Jones says many people do not understand the work of the Red Cross. Its task is simply to meet the immediate needs of disaster victims and to give aid to those of the armed forces. No attempt is made to pay for losses, but merely to relocate people, feed them and give medical aid until victims can care for themselves.

The Rev. Mr. Jones states that, due to their misunderstanding, many people in the county have failed to contribute to the work of the Red Cross this year, that all the work must be done by volunteers and that he is working day and night to meet the needs of the people of Scott County.

He added that there is a great need for additional money and, although there will be no special drive, free-will contributions will gladly be accepted.

45% OF AMERICAN
POW'S DIED IN PRISON

Mayor Floyd H. Kushner, a U. S. Army physician, who was a prisoner of the North Vietnamese for five years, said on his release recently that 45% of all American prisoners of war died of mistreatment. He charged that bad food and lack of medical treatment were the chief causes of death in the North Vietnam prison camps.

"Ten good men died in my arms," said Major Kushner at Valley Forge General Hospital, "and I'm damned mad about that. It was all the result of maltreatment." He added: "I have been beaten, I have been shackled, I have been mistreated, I have been placed in solitary confinement."

Staff Sgt. Isaiah McMillan, who had also been a prisoner, said at Fort Gordon, Ga., that at least twelve of his fellow prisoners of war had died in captivity from an improper diet and dysentery.

Unless the North Vietnam Communists show signs of a complete turnabout in their behavior -- which does not appear anywhere on the horizon of Indochina today -- it is idle to talk of giving any kind of aid to them. On the contrary!

If you wondered sometimes about the Missouri legislature, here's an item that should enlighten most of us.

The unwritten law, which as written in New Mexico allows a husband to shoot his wife's lover if he finds the two in bed together, was repealed in a 61-6 vote by the New Mexico House. An equal rights move by some legislators to attach an amendment to the law giving a wife the right to shoot any woman found in a compromising situation with her husband was defeated.

And so the El Paso Herald - Post heading for the story observed: "N. M. Lovers Breathe Easier."

UNION OFFICIALS FAVORED OVER PUBLIC INTEREST SSIC CHARGES IN CONGRESSIONAL HEARINGS

A question as to whether the self- interest of union officials is being placed above the public interest by the Special Subcommittee on Labor of the U.S. House of Representatives has been raised by the Southern States Industrial Council.

The Council submitted to the Subcommittee a statement strongly opposing a bill sponsored by its Chairman, Rep. Frank Thompson (D, N.J.) which would extend the coverage of the National Labor Relations Act to employees of non- profit hospitals. The Subcommittee held two days of hearings on the bill, H.R. 1236.

In its statement for the hearings record, the SSIC said the bill would extend "all the abuses which have been the outgrowth of our national labor law to service institutions which, above all others, should be free from strikes, slowdowns, picketing and violence." The Council, which represents 3,000 companies employing over 3 million persons and is headquartered in Nashville, Tenn., declared that in the case of hospitals, union formulated disruptions could cause suffering and even death.

A bill by Rep. Thompson identical to the one currently under consideration was rushed out of the Committee last year and passed by the House but died at the end of the 92nd Congress when the Senate failed to act upon it.

According to the SSIC, enactment of H.R. 1236 would have tremendous repercussions throughout the entire area of labor- management relations. It would for the first time extend by legislative enactment the coverage of the NLRA beyond the limits set by Congress. Because of its significance, the SSIC said, the legislation should be submitted to exhaustive examination and lengthy public hearings. However, the SSIC statement pointed out, the hearings last year were abbreviated and only two days of hearings were set this year, closing out a long list of qualified witnesses who wanted to testify on effects of extending the NLRA.

"Union officials keep coming back again and again to press Congress for more privileges and more power," the Council said. "It is no surprise that they should be exerting pressure so soon again to bring more workers under the NLRA-- the act which has worked so much in their favor, to the detriment of employes and the rights of many individual employees who do not want union representation. The question is being asked, however, as to whether the House Special Subcommittee on Labor and the House Labor Committee should not be more resistant to union pressure.

"Is enough consideration being given to the needs, wishes and problems of the great majority of the labor force which is non- union, and the proper balancing of the rights of employers against the rights of unions?" the SSIC asked. "We believe the members of this Subcommittee should ask themselves whether promoting the unionization of hospital workers would be in the best interest of the people who voted them into office. The history of what has happened to industry under the NLRA provides convincing proof that transplanting these abuses to the area of hospital care would be a disservice to the American people."

A spokesman for the SSIC, is commenting upon the statement filed with the Subcommittee, said an examination of the ratings given by the union politcal organization (COPE) to the voting records of all members of Congress showed that most of the members of the House Labor Committee vote the way union officials want them to vote most of the time.

JEOPARDIZING THE FUTURE

Bitter experience is showing that playing politics with basic industries that produce necessities can exact a high price -- particularly in the area of natural resource management. We have had power shortages from delayed power plant construction. Unwise taxation and regulation of the oil and natural gas industry threaten future supplies of these essential fuels. Now there is conflict over utilization of the nation's forest lands.

Investor - owned timber companies exercising the most advanced timber "farming" techniques can assure the nation a perpetual timber supply -- if sufficient commercial timberlands remain available for the efficient application of the multiple - use philosophy advocated by the timber industry. But, narrow conservationists have made a popular issue in legislative chambers over locking up, for purely recreational purposes, ever larger tracts of timberlands. People need recreation areas. But, they need homes too, and wood products are an essential ingredient of home construction.

Modern conservationists have recognized the necessity of blending the aesthetic side of life with the practical. As timber companies demonstrate the wisdom and the feasibility of combining business with pleasure in land use, they are drawing an increasingly favorable response. Typical of this response is the editorial comment of the Portland, Oregon, Journal. It says, "It is indisputably true that the nation cannot solve one of its major social problems, the housing shortage, without more timber. It is also true that more timber can be channeled into meeting this need, without jeopardizing the forests of the future, if growth is expanded and speeded by a variety of improved timber management practices." Timber is a renewable natural resource. But, here as elsewhere in the natural resource field, shortsighted political acts can jeopardize future supplies.

PAPER PLANTS PRAISED FOR POLLUTION CONTROL

The pulp and paper industry has made "remarkable" progress in air and water pollution control since 1970, placing it years ahead of other industries such as steel and utilities, the Council on Economic Priorities said recently in announcing results of an industry survey updating an initial critical report issued two years ago.

The Council, a non-profit group headquartered in New York City, said its latest survey indicates the industry will have achieved adequate pollution control at most of its mills in 1975

It singled out five companies that "presently have good overall records in pollution control." They are Georgia-Pacific Corp., Owens-Illinois, Fibreboard, International Paper and Hoerner Waldorf.

THE WONDER OF REPUBLIC U. S. A.

It is the wonderful people and the freedom of the profit-motive system which created the wonder of Republic USA. All the earth marveled at this new nation created out of a vast wilderness. The "intellectuals" of Europe scoffed at the idea that the people did not need a king or a big government bureaucracy to rule over them and to control their work and take care of them.

The new idea that free men could look after themselves and their families better than any king or commissar proved to be so correct that the new Republic in the wilderness rapidly became by far the richest nation on earth. Older countries, bogged down in their old collectivist ways and, dearful of Truth and Freedom, envied the progressive new Republic USA.

Those who denied men could be free grew to have heavy influence in education. For nearly 100 years they have assumed and taught several generations of students that it was the richness of our natural resources which made the United States the wealthiest nation.

The truth should be recognized. The facts are there plain to see. We are blessed with a rich land. However, it is the people and the profit-motive system of freedom which made us the envy of the world, because we now know that there is more of every resource in other lands than there ever has been in our own country. The fact is that free people find and use the resources, where others had ignored them for tens of thousands of years. If other lands become free, they too can prosper and progress. HLH.

FBI Reportedly Netted Godfather of Godfathers

NEW YORK-- One of the most predatory specters haunting the rag jungle here may soon be forced by the federals to exchange posh night spots for less convivial quarters and learn finally that iron bars do a prison make.

His FBI criminal file number is 691539. Usually and nattily he goes by the name of Russ Bufalino who--- though the spotlight and coroners' attentions have been on more famed Mafiosi--- is considered by the government's special agents as "one of the most ruthless and powerful leaders of the Mafia in the U.S."

Not often does he break into the news as he did last Friday night when four federal agents arrested him in a Scranton, Pa., nightclub. He's out on bail, of course, under charges of Hobbs Act violations.

But Russ Bufalino is more than just another alleged Mafia suspect picked up in a dragnet with 17 others arraigned in Buffalo. The 69- year- old, 5- foot- 8, 166 pound Bufalino carries tremendous weight. Despite his nurtured obscurity, he is considered one of the most influential of American dons. He has what is called a Mafia "family" of his own.

Supposedly, he is in more legitimate businesses than any of the bosses except Don Carlo Gambino and Meyer Lansky of old Murder, Inc. days.

In fact, despite his wraithlike existence on the national scene, despite his tightly ruled suzerainty in the New York City- Eastern Pennsylvania- Upper and Western New York snakelike territory (if drawn on a map), Bufalino is considered by some Justice Dept. officials as powerful as any boss of bosses.

In many a federal record he has been reported as dealing in narcotics smuggling and stolen jewels and furs.

So, while the heat and the bugs and the grand jury probes and headlines are on the spectaculars, the urbane Bufalino, who would be deported if any nation would take him, deals quietly in power. He has lived sedately in Kingston, Pa.--- and has ruled considerable business in the rag jungle (the garment area) of New York and shops right across the state.

So the lesson is--- there's as much power in the shadow as there is in the Gambinos.

Maybe more. Bufalino is credited by some authorities with contacts as far west as central California and Texas. These specialists believe he organized the legendary Apalachin crime cookout Mafia convention in 1957.

Though his Mafia "family" is tiny, it's tough. Inside "the organization" he is "respected." No "Godfather" antics for him.

There are federal law enforcement officials who believe this quiet man from Kingston and Pittston, Pa., is one of the newest "members" of what the trade calls the alleged Mafia "National Commission."

Very little happens inside organized crime without its actual or tacit approval.

It is the executive council. In recent years, some of its members have died (such as Vito Genovese) or have gone to prison (such as New England's Ray Patriarca) or have been shot into a vegetable (such as Joe Colombo). Few know, for example, that "Russ" was there when "Joe" was shot.

Russ has known and knows most of "them." I don't know much about the current charges of Bufalino's alleged threats against a vending machine company which competed with a reportedly Mafia outfit. But Bufalino has been more than a wraith in New York City. Somehow he has worked closely with most of the Eastern dons.

And with their brass-knuckled, acid- handed muscle such as the Luchese mob's Johnny Dio, the brutal Genovese hoods such as the late Tommy (Ryan) Eboli and the imprisoned Jerry Catena. Bufalino walked the teaming, hawkish rag jungle alleys with the mob trucking boss known as "Abe Chait," now among the departed.

And he has lent his iron-fisted hand (no idle description, this) to the Colombo family. He has staked some of them to dress shops and trucking. He has given them the support they need now that Joe Colombo lives--- if you can call it that--- as a human vegetable which breathes.

And through it all, Russell Bufalino, friend of convict fight- racketeer Frankie Carbo, Big John Ormento (in prison for years to come), tough "Nig" Rosen, Vito Genovese, and Philadelphia's Angelo Bruno--- and a national network of living and dead Mafiosi--- has been in the lucrative labor- trouble- or- else business for years.

Russ Bufalino can go to the federal pen for the rest of his life if convicted and the Justice Dept.'s coordinated antiorganized crime strike forces will have done one of the finest jobs of unpolluting some politics, some businesses, some labor, and contemporary civilization itself.

MUNDABRILLA, Australia (AP) — Mundabrilla is a collection of cottages occupied by maintenance men for Australia's transcontinental railway. It's 775 miles east of Perth and 1,687 miles west of Sydney—the two cities that a train called the Indian-Pacific links in a trip that takes the best part of three days and three nights.

The train is air-conditioned and has a club car, dining car, single and twin roomettes, showers and easy chairs. Most of the time it's booked months in advance.

The Indian-Pacific is so named because it is a link between those two oceans.

Out from Mundabrilla, going east, the stunted mulga and mallee trees become fewer as the train rolls toward the Nullarbor plain at a steady 60 miles an hour.

Nullarbor is Latin for "not any trees" and the rail track runs for 420 miles across this limestone plain with never a tree in sight—perfectly flat with only saltbush or spinifex grass as far as one can see.

There's no town in this area, only occasional groupings of railroad workers' cottages and places which watered the locomotives before diesel-electrics took over from steam.

The express stops at few of these settlements. They are served by the affectionately named Tea and Sugar, a train that includes clothing and grocery stores, a butcher, correspondence course teachers for the children, a nurse, and at times a doctor and a dentist.

The trans-Australia railroad is single track much of the 2,461 miles, but there are sidetracks for the Indian-Pacific to slip past freight trains a mile long.

The meals in the dining car, of tourist ship standard, are included in the price of the ticket, and as on ships people quickly become friendly.

The one-way fare of $151.87 first class, $115.44 economy compares with the air fare of $220.24 first or $184.32 economy.

Running of the Indian-Pacific became possible in 1970 with the completion of standardgauge tracks from Perth to Fremantle, and on the "missing link" between Port Pirie in south Australia and Broken Hill in western New South Wales. There used to be different gauges.

People talk of the days 20 years ago, when rail travel across the Nullarbor desert was in stifling hot steam trains with no air-conditioning. In those days they handed out big brown paper bags in which to put your clothes at night to protect them from the dust.

Like all Australian trains, the Indian-Pacific is governmentowned and operated.

Putting Pupfish First

WASHINGTON-- Forced to choose between 200 ugly, inedible pupfish or a millionaire GOP contributor, the Nixon Administration has put the welfare of the pupfish first.

These tiny, wriggly, disagreeable- looking creatures have survived as a species for 10,000 years by sticking to themselves in Devils Hole, Nevada. In this single water hole--- and nowhere else in the world--- they feed and reproduce under the protection of the Interior Department.

Any substantial drop in the water level could end their Ice Age lineage in a couple of days. Yet the water ominously began to slip lower two years ago as a big rancher drilled wells nearby for irrigation.

The rancher, Francis L. Cappaert, a Vicksburg, Miss., millionaire, has been a major contributor to President Nixon's campaigns. He donated heavily to Nixon in both 1968 and 1972. The records for 1972, for example, show he scattered at least $207,000 among Nixon's various campaign kitties.

After Cappaert tapped into the water table and began pumping out the underground water, the level in Devils Hole began to sink. Interior hastily enlisted the Justice Department to help save the unique desert fish.

A few days ago, the Justice lawyers prevailed and a federal judge issued an injunction against the pumping. Result: The Ice Age pupfish no longer face extinction in a dry hole, although the Republicans may find a dry hole the next time they approach Cappaert for campaign funds.

ERRAND BOY: The Powerful chemical companies have a new errand boy on Capitol Hill. He is an aggressive, articulate freshman, Rep. Samuel H. Young, R— Ill., who has put up a backstage battle to emasculate a bill designed to protect the health and environment against toxic substances.

In his eagerness to do the chemical industry's bidding, he made four separate attacks on a bill to control toxic substances. Each time, he was rebuffed by his colleagues on the House Commerce and Finance subcommittee.

Young didn't mention to his colleagues that his election campaign was heavily financed by chemical executives. Daniel J. Terra, president of Lawter Chemicals, Inc., of Northbrook, Ill., funneled $10,000 to Young's campaign through four separate campaign committees.

Foster McGaw, past president of American Hospital Supply, a firm with extensive chemical interests, gave $4,200 to Young through two separate committees.

Indeed, our investigation indicates Terra was the sole contributor to the "Youth for Young" committee. He was joined only by McGaw on two other dummy committees.

Young explained to us that he "was trying to keep a broad new law within proper lines." He had no contact regarding the legislation with his chemical contributors, he added.

HOOVER'S HOARD: An American art collector has bought up at auction 50 items from J. Edgar Hoover's bric-a-brac collection and offered to put them on tour in the Soviet Union, Hoover's lifetime adversary.

In a letter to Soviet Culture Minister Yekaterina Furtseva, collector Robert Simmons of Washington conceded that the late FBI director was "a vigorous anti- Communist. At the same time, however, he was a warm and generous human being and, I am sure, would have been delighted by the latest developments in the field of cultural exchange."

The collection, which we have seen in part, ranges from a handsome chess set to a handmake basket of popsickle sticks. There is also a whiskey decanter shaped like a hand grenade and another that plays "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." As Simmons confided to Furtseva, it is "not one of the Old Masters (but) a cross-section of one man's taste."

BRASS RING: The brass ring, good for a free ride on the Washington Merry- Go- Round, is awarded today to Joe Towne of Sacramento. The former Air Force radar technician developed eye cataracts after being exposed to microwave rays while he flew in electronic- bristling spy planes for nearly 10 years.

Since his 1966 retirement, he has won national recognition as the "Ralph Nader of Microwaves." With the help of his wife, Dotty, he has deluged congressmen, newsmen and government officials with letters, urging them to look into the damaging effects of microwaves on eyes.

The office of Sen. John Tunney credits Towne, in part, with inspiring the Senate's first critical hearing on microwave and X- ray effects. Towne had looked forward to attending them. But he has been stricken with a coronary complication and the threat of amputation of both legs. He wonders if his circulatory problems couldn't also have been caused by radiation. Russian and Czech studies, he says, indicate this possibility.

Between his circulatory and cataract problems, however, he was unable to fly to the hearings he was so instrumental in precipitating.

Frazier-Miles

VANDUSER — Miss Mary Alice Miles and Eugene Frazier Jr. were united in marriage in a double- ring ceremony March 31 at 7 p.m. by the Rev. Cline Ables at Vanduser Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold C. Miles of Vanduser, and Frazier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frazier of Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. Barbara Wallace of Sikeston was pianist and Mrs. Peggy Sadler of Sikeston was soloist.

A mixture of blue and pink carnations and lavender gladiolas accented on both sides by candles were the setting for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose an ivory gown of crepe overlaid with ivory chiffon. The gown featured a high neckline and was accented by ivory lace with a lavender ribbon. The sleeves were of sheer chiffon and the wide cuffs were trimmed with ivory lace and a lavender ribbon. The A-line skirt was trimmed on the high waist. The floor- length train was also of sheer chiffon. The headpiece was an ivory floor length three- tiered veil of English illusion held with lace petals and accented with pearls.

The bride's only jewelery was a diamond necklace, a gift from the groom, and she carried a bouquet of pink, white and blue carnations and lilies of the valley surrounding a lavender rose.

Miss Connie Frazier of Cape Girardeau, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Karen Wibbenmeyer of Cape Girardeau served as matron of honor. They wore identical floor-length gowns of lavender, blue and pink, trimmed with a waistband of lavender velvet ribbon. They wore headpieces of lavender, blue and pink flowers which matched their bouquets.

Danny Lynn of Cape Girardeau, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Groomsman was Steve Frazier of Cape Girardeau, brother of the groom.

Doug Woodard of Cape Girardeau and Alan Alliston of Sikeston were ushers.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a blue dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Frazier chose for her son's wedding a two- piece green dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church's reception hall with Mrs. Sharon Woodard Mrs. Barbara Lynn of Cape Girardeau and Miss Shirley Burton serving.

The couple now lives at Morley.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frazier Jr.

Douglas-Wood

EAST PRAIRIE-- Judith Wood became the wife of Jerry Douglas on April 19 in a 7 p.m. ceremony at the home of her parents. The Rev. Martin Lucas, Christian Church minister, performed the double- ring ceremony in front of the white marble fireplace in the parlor of what was once the home of the late Dr. Albert Martin and Mrs. Martin, grandparents of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Walden are parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mrs. La Wanda Douglas of East Prairie and Verlon L. Douglas of St. Louis.

The bride, wearing a long blue gown and carrying a bridal bouquet of spring flowers, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Raymond Skaggs of Fredericktown, the matron of honor. Jim Douglas served his brother as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining room. Guests were served wedding cake, punch and coffee by Karla Wood, daughter of the bride, and Cydney Rae Skaggs, the bride's niece.

The new Mrs. Douglas chose a navy blue dress with white collar, complimented with a white corsage for the wedding trip to Kentucky Lake.

The newlyweds are now at home in the former A.C. Shelby home. Mrs. Douglas is a teacher in the East Prairie public school system, and the groom is associated with his mother in the insurance business.

Ann Landers

Older boys should not imitate mothers; nor girls their fathers

Dear Ann Landers: I disagree with your notion that young boys should be discouraged from playing with dolls and young girls ought not to play with toy guns. You seemed to think that these youngsters would be confused about their sex roles and just might possibly grow up to be queer.

What's the matter with boys learning to be fathers the same way girls learn to be mothers? One of the major problems in our family was that my dad never had anything to do with his children. As for guns, I played Cowboys and Indians with my brothers until I was in my early teens and I still love to hunt and shoot. So far as I know I am perfectly normal.

Please change your advice before you do some serious damage. Millions of people accept your word as gospel.--- I'm O.K., How Are You?

Dear O.K.: Thanks for your letter, but the advice stands as stated. I see nothing wrong in boys playing with dolls at a very early age, but when they get to be ten and eleven, they should not continue to imitate their mothers, which is the thrust of my objection.

As for girls playing with toy guns, I am opposed to toy guns for BOTH girls and boys, of any age. Guns are for killing and there are already too many gun- lovers loose in this "dangerous and untidy world."

Dear Ann Landers: I worked as a salesperson for five years and decided to go to secretarial school at age 29. It was a wonderful decision and I have an excellent position with a good firm.

My first problem has arisen and I don't know how to cope with it. The boss left for an overseas trip last week. I decided to be super- efficient and straighten out his disheveled desk drawers. Unfortunately, I came across some pornographic pictures and obscene literature which I wish I had never seen. When he returns he will know I saw it because his drawers will be orderly. I'm afraid we will both be embarrassed. What should I do?--- Meant Well In Jacksonville

Dear M.W.: Put the drawers back the way they were. And from now on, stay out of the boss's desk.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me if you think I am overly sensitive. The problem concerns our grandchildren, aged 11, 12 and 13. They have never given their grandfather or me a little gift of any kind.

Not that we need anything, mind you, but how we would appreciate a box of homemade cookies, or something turned out in school. I see my friends with their hand- hemmed dish towels, pot holders, a paper plant, a corner bracket made in woodwork and wrapped in second- hand gift paper but carried in loving hands.

I tell myself it's not their fault, these little ones--- that their parents never taught them to give, just take. Every year since they have been old enough to talk they've let us know what they want for Christmas, and we never disappointed them. Am I expecting too much?-- A Grandma

Dear Grandma: Children can learn from grandparents as well as parents. Eleven- 12- and 13- year- olds are not babies. They will understand when you tell them that people should be givers as well as takers. And I hope you will provide them with this Lesson in Living in the presence of their parents. They might learn something, too.

Can drugs be a friend in time of stress? If you keep your head together can they be of help? Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs" separates the fact from the fiction. Get it today. For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16c postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Mr. and Mrs. James Woodward

Woodward-Miller

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Double- ring wedding vows uniting Miss Pamela Miller of Dexter and James Woodward of Sikeston were exchanged April 13 in the chapel of Southeast Missouri State University.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller of Dexter, and Woodward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Woodward of Sikeston.

A center arch holding white tapers and adorned with greenery formed the setting for the wedding vows. Candelabras on each side of wedding baskets of white daisies and snapdragons were at the altar.

Organ selections from Bach and Beethoven were played prior to the ceremony and during the service. The Rev. Tom Kozeny officiated.

The bride wore a pastel blue floor- length gown of single knit. The dress featured a floor- length skirt, long sleeves accented with cuffs and ruffles and a high neckline bordered in a double ruffle. Ruffles also created a bib effect to the bodice of the gown which featured a raised waistline. She wore a halo of fresh white daisies in her hair with blue streamers. She carried an arrangement of white orchid and white daisies arranged atop a white Bible.

The bride's sister, Miss Jennifer Miller of Dexter, was maid of honor. She wore a floor- length gown of pink double knit styled with long Juliet sleeves. It featured a puff inset of white accented with pink embroidered rosebues. She wore a white daisy halo in her hair with pink streamers and carried a nosegay of daisies.

Attending the groom as best man was Mark Schumacher of Sikeston. The groom selected a suit of burgundy design, a pink shirt and wore a pink rosebud boutonniere. Schumacher chose a navy suit and wore a white carnation boutonniere.

Candlelighter was Miss Vicki Smyth, cousin of the bride. She wore a street-length dress of gold and white.

Mrs. Miller selected for her daughter's wedding a dress of muted pink tones. She wore white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Woodward chose for her son's wedding a melon dress with white accessories. She also wore a white gardenia corsage.

Following the ceremony, a champagne reception was held at the newlyweds' apartment in Cape Girardeau. The round serving table was accented with an antique brass candelabra.

The former Miss Miller is a 1969 graduate of Dexter High School and will graduate this spring from Southeast Missouri University with a major in speech pathology.

The groom graduated from Sikeston High School in 1969 and returned from Vietnam in December. He has resumed studies at the university where he is a sophomore.

Sherman-Stone

JONESBORO, Ark. — Reba Ann Stone and Roy Forrester Sherman were married at 4 p.m. April 21 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Stone.

Sherman is the son of Mrs. Roy F. Sherman and the late Mr. Sherman of Catron, Mo.

Mrs. David Kimmel served as her sister's only attendant, and John T. Sherman of Sikeston, Mo., was his brother's best man. Ushers were James Hudson and David G. Kimmel.

The Rev. Wayne Clark of Corning performed the double- ring ceremony. A reception was held at the home following the ceremony.

Both are graduates of Arkansas State University. Sherman is employed as territorial manager for the B. F. Goodrich Co., and Mrs. Sherman is an instructor for the Little Rock public schools.

After a wedding trip, the couple will live at 5036 Edgemere Drive, in North Little Rock.

Out- of -town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sherman and daughers and Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman of Sikeston, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Westmoreland of Catron and Mrs. and Mrs. Chas. Shelby and daughters of Poplar Bluff, Mo.

McGraw defies catcher's call

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a good thing that Tug McGraw doesn't listen to his catcher. Duffy Dyer said, "screwball" and McGraw replied, "fastball."

The New York Mets' star relief pitcher then threw the pitch of his choice past Cesar Cedeno for a key strikeout that helped preserve a 2-1 victory over the Houston Astros Thursday night.

"I shook off Dyer three times before he called the fastball," said McGraw about a tense ninth-inning situation. "I had thrown screwball, screwball and curveball. I just felt that I could get the fastball past him, and that's what happened."

McGraw, who had entered the game after starter Jim McAndrew pitched seven innings, gave up a leadoff single in the ninth to ex-Met Tommie Agee that put the potential winning run at the plate.

McGraw got Tommy Helms on a fly ball before striking out the heavy-hitting Cedeno. Then Bob Watson bounced out and McGraw had his fourth save of the young season.

The San Francisco Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-3 in the only other National League game played Thursday. In the American League, the Detroit Tigers beat the Texas Rangers 3-2; the Milwaukee Brewers notched a 7-3 victory over the Kansas City Royals and the Oakland A's nipped the Cleveland Indians 3-2.

Chris Speier and Gary Thomasson batted in two runs each as San Francisco won its fourth straight game and ninth in the last 10. The victory put the high-riding Giants 2½ games up over Cincinnati in the NL West.

"I can't remember when we swept a series over the Cubs in Wrigley Field," said San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox. "But it's a good, good feeling to come in here and win three in a row."

District tourney's get underway Monday

The Missouri state high school baseball district tournaments get underway Monday, April 30 with Hayti, Oran, Chaffee, and Cape Girardeau hosting area tournaments.

The state baseball tournaments have been divided into two classes for 1973. The Kelly Hawks are the defending Sectional champions.

In the district tournament at Hayti, the Indians are seeded first with the Bernie Mules second. Hayti has fireballing righthander, Randy Gardner to go against the Mules ace, Dell Walker, a flashy lefthander who has a good hitting eye to back his pitching. Gideon and Senath-Hornersville are seeded third and fourth respectively.

At Cape Girardeau, the hosting Tigers are the number one seeded team, followed by Poplar Bluff, Jackson third, and Fredericktown fourth.

At Chaffee, the Red Devils have big Scott Thomas to carry them into the number one spot. The 6-7 flame thrower already has a no-hitter to his credit. Notre Dame is seeded second, Piedmont third, and Illmo Scott City fourth.

At Oran, the Kelly Hawks are seeded number one behind the pitching duo of Jeff Jacksond Kenny Urhahn. Both hurlers have a no-hitter for the season. Jackson pitched the Hawks al the way to the regional last year, losing only to Lafayette of St. Louis, the eventual state champion.

The Lilbourn Panthers are picked for second, New Madrid is seeded third and the East Prairie Eagles are seeded fourth.

Indians try again Saturday

CAPE GIRARDEAU — With an overabundance of spring showers slowly washing away its 1973 schedule, Southeast Missouri State University's baseball squad is hopeful of a few rainless days so it can get in five final doubleheaders.

Rain has taken toll of eight dates on the Indian diamond schedule including five doubleheaders, two of which were to be with MIAA foes.

Should the rains terminate, the Indians will play their second conference twinbill of the year Saturday against Lincoln University at 1 p.m. in Capaha Park.

Then, on Tuesday (May 1) the Indians will be in Evansville, Ind., for a pair with Indiana State.

Uhls is somewhat concerned about how his players will be Saturday as they have not been in action since April 14. Not only have the rains forced cancellation of games, but they also cut down on practice sessions as well.

Lincoln raised its MIAA record to 3-3 last week end by taking a pair from Northwest Missouri State. The Tigers had previously split with Rolla and lost two to Southwest Missouri State.

Uhls said he plans to start Puxico southpaw Galen McSpadden and Sikeston freshman Robert Blankenship in Saturday's twinbill.

Against Indiana State Uhls said Terry Bazzell, a freshman from Jackson is a likely starter in one of the games. The hurler in the other game will probably be either junior Steve Elfrank of Festus or Charles Powell, a senior from Crystal City.

If the Indians can play and win the next four games, they will tie the record for the most wins by a baseball team in the 15- year history of the sport at Southeast Missouri State.

Remaining games:

April 28, Lincoln University, Home, 1 p.m.

May 1, Indiana State, Evansville, Ind. 2 p.m.

May 5, Northwest Missouri State, Maryville, 1 p.m.

May 8 University of Evansville, Home, 1:30 p.m.

May 12 University of Missouri, Rolla, 1 p.m.

All games are doubleheaders

Sizemore disabled

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals' leading hitter, second baseman Ted Sizemore, was placed on the 15-day disabled list Thursday due to a leg injury suffered Wednesday night.

Sizemore, who is hitting .333, suffered a hamstring injury when he tried to beat a double play relay to first base in the first inning of a game against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Cardinals also announced they were sending lefthanded pitcher John Andrews to their Tulsa farm club. Andrews had compiled a 5.14 earned run average in seven games this spring.

The latest cancellations took away five games and prevented the Tribe from having its 12-0 record challenged.

A re- scheduled game with Washington University in St. Louis was rained out April 18 and then the following afternoon a home twinbill with Quincy College was erased by rain. Tuesday the Indians were slated for one of their toughest tests of the season against nationally-ranked University of Missouri -- St. Louis, but once again the rain extended its veto.

Indian baseball coach Joe Uhls said there is a possibility that the UMSL twinbill can be rescheduled. However, it is doubtful.

Knicks seek clincher

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Silas and Dave DeBusschere, two of the best rebounders and defensive forwards in basketball, will resume their private war within a war tonight when the New York Knicks seek to end their National Basketball Association playoff series against the Boston Celtics.

The Knicks lead the Celtics 32 in the best-of-7 Eastern Conference finals and a victory in tonight's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) game would move them into the NBA finals against the defending champion Los Angeles Lakers, who beat Golden State 4-1 in the West.

Meanwhile, the American Basketball Association's championship playoff series between the Kentucky Colonels and Indiana Pacers gets under way Saturday in a nationally televised game at Louisville, Ky.

Both those teams finished second during the regular season, but Kentucky defeated Carolina 4-3 for the East Division title and Indiana took Utah 4-2 for the West Division crown.

Silas, the 6-foot-7 veteran who came to the Celtics from Phoenix following last season in exchange for the rights to Charlie Scott, was an unlikely hero in Boston's 98-97 victory in Game No. 5 Wednesday night. He scored just nine points—but they included a 30-foot bank shot that was the Celtics' only basket in the final eight minutes, and two free throws with seven seconds left on the clock which put the Celtics on top for good.

DeBusschere, meanwhile, has does his usual workmanlike job, which has been good enough to earn him All-Star and All-NBA defensive team honors. He's averaging 17.8 points and 9.4 rebounds per game against Boston, and knows he'll have to concentrate on keeping Silas away from the boards.

If the Celtics win, the seventh and deciding game will be played in Boston Sunday afternoon. If not, the Knicks go on to meet Los Angeles—and Boston, the team with the best regular-season record in the NBA, will go home.

Rebels win twinbill

BLOOMFIELD — Coach Robert Jones' Richland Rebels Diamond men swept a doubleheader from the BHS Wildcats here Wednesday afternoon, shutting out their host 6-0 in the first game and edging the Wildcats 4-3 in the nightcap to bring their record to 3-4 for the season.

Although the Rebels were out hit 6-5 in the first game the Rebels took advantage of some costly errors by the Wildcats to score five big runs in the top of the fifth to put the game away.

Richland crossed the plate in the top of the first inning and the run turned out to be the only one they would need for the win.

The hitting for Richland was divided up between five different players as five singles were all Baldwin allowed for Bloomfield.

Jackson and Baldwin had two hits apiece for the Wildcats. Jim Clay was the winning pitcher and Bob Baldwin took the loss for Bloomfield.

Bloomfield also out hit the Rebels in the nightcap but came up short in the scoring column as the Wildcats couldn't manage to put their safeties together.

Richland fell behind in the bottom of the first frame as Bloomfield plated two runs but came back in the top of the second to tie the score 2-2.

Richland pulled out in front in the top of the fourth, scoring a lon run and added their final tally in the top of the fifth. The Wildcats rallied for a lone run in the bottom of the fifth but Al Brock, the winning pitcher put the fire out before the Cats could do any more damage.

This week's Uniform INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Dr. William H. Taft

Scripture: John 20:26-29; Romans 10:6-11

MAN RESPONDS THROUGH FAITH

Never a day goes by that something doesn't happen to test one's faith. For most persons this faith is displayed in their expectations that their cars will start each morning.

Our faith will carry us throughout each day. Without faith there is hardly any justification for one to live.

Today's memory lesson is brief and challenging: "Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved."

Jesus realized that human beings frequently experience periods of depression, brought on by our doubts and our lack of faith, often faith in ourselves or our ability to perform certain acts.

It is hardly unusual for persons to doubt such events as the Resurrection. Today there are still some persons who believe the world is flat, despite the feats of our astronauts in reaching the moon and sending back pictures of the round earth.

Thomas the apostle must have represented the group of doubters who found it difficult to believe in the Resurrection of Jesus. He demanded proof.

One shouldn't be too harsh on Thomas for most of us have a bit of his "doubting philosophy" in our own souls. Missourians pride themselves on wanting "to be shown," representing, no doubt, some lack of faith in certain areas.

The Bible tells us that none of the disciples actually believed the first reports that Christ had been raised from the dead. What if Thomas had failed to make an issue of this?

Would Thomas have been the last person to doubt the Resurrection? Certainly not. His response made it possible for Christ to restress the events as they occurred.

Jesus displayed compassion for Thomas. This is certainly another example of Jesus' teaching about our need for faith. He realized that we all need reminders and assurance from time to time.

Before unmistakable evidence Thomas confessed his commitment to Christ, who indirectly rebuked him for not believing the other disciples.

The world has many examples of the results of personal faith in Jesus. Guideposts magazine monthly reports such incidents.

After the stillborn birth of their fourth child Dallas football star Roger Staubach admitted a brief rebellion before he prayed to God for understanding.

"I felt this sudden sense of peace and comfort. The Lord was Lord. He was with my daughter and my father (who had died the same year). This world is not the end, but the beginning." the quarterback said.

Charles Atlas, the one-time weakling who became the nation's best known strong man, died recently. As a youth he suffered because of his physical deficiencies. Soon he turned to fervent prayer after seeing statues of mythical characters.

"I've seen men the way You made them, Jesus. The men in those statues. Help me to become strong, too." Atlas prayed. In his program for weaklings, Atlas advised all to recognize their bodies as temples of His Spirit.

Others who turn to Jesus express their faith in many ways. The Jesus Movement stresses the need for young persons to turn their faith in drugs to faith in Jesus. In their activities Jesus becomes very much alive.

Our faith should lead us to identification with the Christian community. Possibly this has become more difficult in our days, with the demands for proof in advertising claims, the research activities of Ralph Nader, and the charges and counter-charges of the presidential election.

Faith must see beyond tangible evidence. It must reflect a personal commitment to Christ. Honest doubt can be rewarding, although dishonest doubt hinders progress.

Our lives can only be as meaningful as our faith in Christ.

Chaney has been associated with the Lord'smen Quartet for the past four years, serving the group as pianist and tenor.

He also has served as organist, pianist and children's choir director at First Baptist Church for one year, and Sunday's performance will be his last at the church before going on tour for the summer with the Lord'smen Quartet.

Baptist leaders to meet

ORAN — First Baptist Church of Oran will host a Sunday School interpretation meeting Monday for the pastors and Sunday School directors of Charleston Baptist Association.

Mrs. Ozie Lee Gilliam

THE BIBLE

80. King Balak Sends for Balaam

Once the children of Israel had pitched camp in the plains of Moab, Balak, king of the Moabites, feared for his lands because he saw the havoc Israel had wrought upon the Amorites. Balak even warned the Moabites that the vast company of Israel should devour them as easily as an ox eats grass.

Therefore, he dispatched messengers to Balaam's home in Pethor, for fantastic blessings fell upon those whom Balaam blessed and certain doom upon those whom he cursed. The elders of Moab thus approached Balaam, offering him huge rewards if he would curse the children of Israel for Balak.

However, Balaam instructed the messengers to lodge with him that night, for he was unable to speak except as the Lord commanded him. That evening God came to Balaam and inquired of the men who lodged there. Balaam answered that Balak had sent them to request a curse upon the Israelites.

God admonished Balaam:

"...Thou shalt not go with them; thou shalt not curse the people: for they are blessed."

Numbers 22:12

Balaam obediently sent the princes of Moab away; however, Balak was not yet willing to sacrifice his plan.

Woods bound over on murder charge

CHARLESTON — Gary Wayne Woods, 28, of East Prairie was bound over to circuit court on a first degree murder charge following a preliminary hearing Thursday before Magistrate T. J. Brown Jr.

Woods is charged with shooting Manuel Hollis Gilliam, 37, of Matthews Route One, with a .22 caliber pistol outside Pee Wee's Tavern in East Prairie on March 24.

Witnesses called by Prosecuting Attorney W. Clifton Banta Jr. were Frank Hatton of Anniston, T. D. Fowler of Matthews Route One, and Mississippi County Coroner Elgin McMikle.

Hatton and Fowler were outside the tavern at the time of the shooting but neither man testified he saw the actual shooting.

Hatton testified he got to the tavern between 10 and 10:30 p.m. March 23 and remained there until the tavern closed about midnight. He said he heard Woods and Gilliam exchange words in what seemed like a friendly argument, but he did not listen to what the argument was about. According to Hatton, he and Fowler left the tavern together by the rear door and were talking when Woods drove around back in his pickup truck. Woods and Gilliam began to argue again and, according to Hatton, Gilliam told Woods that if he got out of his truck he would pounce his head, or words to that effect.

"I didn't hear any noise (shot), just a ping and then Gilliam fell," Hatton said. Woods reportedly got out of his truck and told the two men that Gilliam had taken a swing at him. Hatton said Woods had a gun in his hand when he got out of the truck.

Fowler testified that Gilliam was sitting with him at a table inside the tavern and that Woods was seated at the bar when the two men began to argue. He also testified that he did not know what the argument was about. Later, outside the tavern, Fowler said the two men began to argue again while Woods was sitting in his truck and Gilliam was some 10 feet away from the truck. He said he heard Gilliam tell Woods that if he got out he would whip him. "I heard the gun go off and I saw something in Wayne's hand, but I didn't see him shoot him," Fowler said.

According to Coroner McMikle, Gilliam was shot once in the left side of the chest, about one inch above the nipple. In his opinion, McMikle said, Gilliam died from a bullet which penetrated the left lung and that he died almost instantly.

Defense counsel's motion that the charge of first degree murder be dismissed was overruled by Judge Brown and Woods is to appear May 8 in Circuit Court. He remains free on $10,000 bond.

In other court action Thursday Judge Brown set May 3 as preliminary hearing date for Sammy Wise and Robert Michael Parr, both of Bertrand, each charged with rape.

Ivy Booker of Charleston, charged with assault with intent to kill and carrying a concealed weapon, waived her preliminary hearing and was bound over to Circuit Court for a May 8 appearance.

Eugene Fowler, alias Eugene Murr, was also bound over to Circuit Court after waiving preliminary hearing on a felony charge of tampering with a motor vehicle.

Miller Otis Martin of East Prairie waived arraignment and preliminary hearing on charges of burglary and first degree stealing and was bound over to circuit court to appear May 8.

Howard Willis Davis of Tiptonville, Tenn. was fined $150 on a charge of driving while intoxicated and $50 for driving while his licenses were revoked, together with $20.05 costs. A 30- day jail sentence was stayed and he was placed on one year probation, under the condition that he stay out of the state of Missouri during his probation period.

Charges of violation of the wildlife code brought fines of $109.32 each to Eddie Murlin Childers, Ira Lee Mosier and Alfred T. Hendrix. Stealing charges against the three were dismissed at $10.69 costs.

A common assault charge against Jerry Weakley brought a 30- day jail sentence and a 30- day sentence given Marilyn McCleary on a charge of insufficient funds check was suspended. Mrs. McCleary was placed on one year probation on condition she pay court costs, obey the law and make restitution of $30 to Ferrell's Super Market. An insufficient funds check charge against Mel Hedge was dismissed on payment of $11 costs.

Other misdemeanor charges and fines included: Jasper William Johnson of Sikeston, speeding, $54; Linda Mae Burrell of East Prairie, no operator's license, $21; Jackie Lee Husk of East Prairie, careless and imprudent driving, $31; Barbara Linn Webb of Wyatt, no operator's license, $26; Kathy Ann Williams of East Prairie, speeding, $29; Kenneth Wayne Farrell of Charleston, no operator's license and using stolen or borrowed plates, $10 on each charge plus $22.55 costs; Donnie Gene Williams of East Prairie, no operator's license, $26; Willie B. Locust of Charleston, public intoxication, $27; and Sidney Dixon of Charleston, operating a motorcycle without an operator's license and without a helmet, $5 fine on each count and $16 costs.

Charges of tampering with a motor vehicle against Maurice Eugene Wright and Thomas Walls both of Bertrand were continued to May 10. Wright was given until that time to employ an attorney and an attorney was appointed to represent Walls. Charges of burglary and stealing against Walls were also continued to May 10.

Other cases continued to May 3 include Jasper William Johnson of Sikeston, unlicensed operator; Larry David Williams, carrying a concealed weapon and exhibiting and flourishing a dangerous and deadly weapon; Billy Gene Dowdy of East Prairie, speeding; Milas Rex Mainord, of East Prairie, speeding; Robert Winston Moore of East Prairie, speeding; and Harry Dean Schneider of East Prairie, inadequate mufflers. A charge of careless and imprudent driving against John Wayne Tatum of Charleston was continued to May 24.

Whitney found guilty of burglary charge

CHARLESTON — Jerry Lee Whitney of Charleston was found guilty of burglary and stealing under the habitual criminal act in a jury trial before Circuit Judge Marshall Craig.

Punishment for Whitney, found guilty of breaking into Wigdor's Dollar Store in Charleston on Feb. 19 and stealing shoes and pants, will be assessed by Judge Craig on May 23.

R. J. Betts of Charleston, arrested with Whitney, was granted severance and will be tried on the same charges at a later date in a separate trial.

Ella Jane Jones was granted a divorce and custody of one child from Billy Joe Jones. Jones was granted visitation rights and ordered to pay $10 per week child support.

James Frances Garner was awarded a divorce from Stella Ruth Garner. Mrs. Garner was given custody of two minor children and $25 per child per month child support.

Barbara Sauceda received a divorce from Raymond Sauceda and her maiden name of Christian was restored.

What's the law?

The case of the insulting corpse

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Frank was born into a patriotic family that was red, white and he blew it, according to his grandfather. What's more, his grandfather's charge against him was very specific. It was in the later's will and was read aloud when the old man died. In disinheriting him, Frank's grandfather accused him of having been a draft dodger during World War II.

"It's absolutely false," protested Frank at the reading of the will. "I was no draft dodger. The fact is, I wanted to get into the war in the worst way but the Army classified me 4- F and told me to for- get it."

Indignant, Frank decided to get his share of his grandfather's estate another way. He sued his grandfather's estate for damages on the grounds that the old man's will had defamed him.

"Absurd!" was the reaction of the executor of the estate. "A dead man can't be sued for what he says in his will. Once he's in his grave, only a higher authority can punish him."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the estate pay Frank for the insult contained in his grandfather's will?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that while a person is perfectly free to explain in his will why he has disinherited a particular person, he may not defame anyone in doing so. If he does, concluded the judge, his estate may be held responsible for damages.

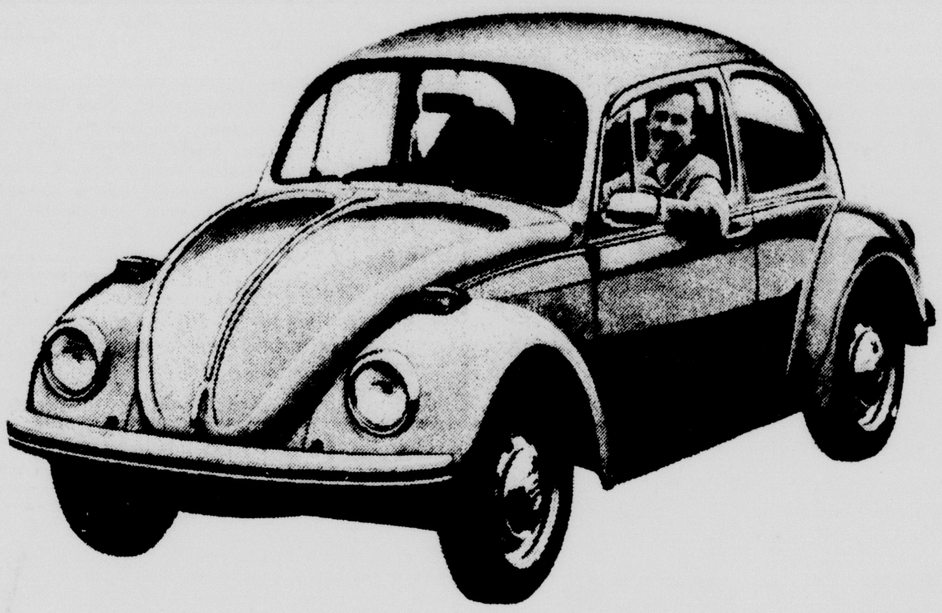
® Volkswagen of America, Inc.

With $125 * down, you'll be sitting pretty



Just a cash down payment of $125, and $71.48 a month for 36 months, * gets you a brand new Volkswagen without destroying your bank account.

(In case you haven't figured it out, that works out to a deferred payment price of $2573.28 which includes a finance charge at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 10.20%.)

So after you buy a new VW, you still have plenty of money to sit pretty with.

Especially since a Volkswagen only requires about 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts.

Or the fact that you never have to buy antifreeze because of its air-cooled engine.

And it doesn't cost you a fortune for gas. About a gallon for every 25 miles  or so will keep it happy.

Now if you're already sitting pretty and you hate to bother with financing, we don't mind if you pay for it all at once.

Then the cash price would be $2334.

* Volkswagen Sedan III, with standard 4-speed transmission. Credit terms listed apply to qualified buyers only.

Dean told federal prosecutors all he knew on April 6 but Haldeman and Ehrlichman apparently balked.

— Presidential spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler said that neither the President nor anyone acting on his authority has approached anyone with the aim of recruiting him to replace present staff members or to direct a shakeup.

Various news reports have said Nixon has asked, or is about to ask, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Larid, NATO Ambassador Donald Rumsfeld or former White House lobbyist Bryce Harlow. Harlow says he hasn't been asked. Laird says he isn't available. Sources close to Rogers say he hasn't been asked, either. Rumsfeld couldn't be reached.

— A lawyer representing two presidential aides in the Watergate scandal shuttled Thursday from the White House to the office of federal prosecutor Silbert.

The lawyer, John J. Wilson, has met twice with Nixon himself. Thursday he had first talked to his clients, Haldeman and Ehrlichman, and then visited Silbert's office for roughly half an hour.

Records broken as Mississippi climbs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A river level recorded there in 1785 was broken Thursday night as the Mississippi River reached 42.16 feet and continued to rise to the predicted crest of 43.5 feet on Saturday, 13 and a half feet above flood stage.

The swollen Missouri, which has covered about 40 per cent of St. Charles County north of St. Louis, was receding after an early crest of 36.4 Thursday afternoon, short of the 36.7-foot prediction by the National Weather Service. Flood stage at St. Charles is 25 feet.

"This could be a false recession," George Hunt of the Corps of Engineers said Thursday night.

"The river could rise again after it fills in the areas now being flooded," Hunt said.

Corps officials said it was believed the Mississippi and Missouri formed a new confluence Thursday night, but they said they would know for sure after getting a better look at the rivers today.

Had that happened, a Corps spokesman said, an area of about 45 square miles between the two rivers might have become an island.

Sandbagging efforts by 200 volunteers continued today on Missouri 94 in St. Charles County. A portion of the highway had already been closed.

About 600 persons residing in mobile homes in the north part of St. Charles were evacuated Thursday after a levee formed along the Missouri-KansasTexas railroad embankment was topped by the swollen Missouri.

The towns of West Alton and Portage des Sioux were under water. The Coast Guard evacuated a few remaining residents from West Alton, a town of about 400. Deep water was reported in some homes at Portage des Sioux.

A helicopter pilot was injured slightly when his ship hit power lines and crashed near the Union Electric power plant near the city. The helicopter was one of five called to remove workers after a road became impassable.

The recent flooding claimed its 10th victim Thursday when Walter Huber, 32, an Indianapolis insurance man, drowned when his boat sank in the swollen Rock River near Rockford, Ill. Huber was assessing flood damage to homes along the river.

The Corps announced Thursday if the Mississippi reaches the 43.5-foot crest at St. Louis Saturday, $136 million in flood damage will have been caused in Missouri and Illinois. Current damage in the two states has been estimated at $43 million with 1.2 million acres inundated.

A graph compiled by the Corps indicated that if the river reached 43.0 here, damage would be $100 and an additional half-foot would result in $36 million more damage.

"A few inches can mean a hell of a lot, when you're talking about the Mississippi," a spokesman said.

President Nixon, who declared portions of Illinois a disaster area Thursday and portions of Missouri last week, was scheduled to fly over the flooding Mississippi Valley today.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond toured flooded areas of St. Charles and Jefferson counties Thursday.

At Arnold, Mo., where 400 homes in a subdivision were sitting in the floodwaters of the Meramec River, a Mississippi tributary south of St. Louis, Bond said, "The government will provide all of the follow-up healp. Our job is to see whatever is possible is done to prevent further damage."

The governor added that 2,000 Missouri National Guardsmen were on duty.

At Hannibal, north of St. Louis, the National Guard Armory was flooded and could not be used as planned for a disaster center. A record crest of 28.4 feet, 12.4 over flood stage, was reached at Hannibal Wednesday.

All but 250 of Grafton, Illinois' 1,100 residents had been evacuated and a curfew was imposed to prevent looting. The Mississippi at Grafton was to crest at 32.5 feet Sunday, 14.5 feet over flood stage.

At Kaskaskia Island, Coast Guard boats were standing by to evacuate about 55 of the island's 200 residents.

A corps spokesman said the situation on the island Thursday night was "critical" because of the 43-foot predicted crest at nearby Chester, Ill., for Sunday. The remaining 55 residents were assiting corps officials in sandbagging operations designed to protect their homes.

A crest of 45 feet on Sunday was predicted for Cape Girardeau, Mo., where flood stage is 32 feet. Both Cape Girardeau and St. Louis are protected by floodwalls designed to withstand 52-foot floods.

About 10,000 persons were being fed by the American Red Cross. They were either affected by flooding or working to control high water in Missouri and Illinois.

A Salvation Army spokesman said that agency was feeding some 10,000 persons a day in the St. Louis area. The spokesman said the agency was buying canned goods and other items because of a dwindling food supply.

Commercial navigation on the Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois rivers has been halted because of the danger of wavewash to threatened levees.

Bridges spanning the Mississippi to connect Missouri with Illinois remained open only at St. Louis, Chester and Cairo, Ill.

Ferrell is man of year

Mayor Frank Ferrell was named Sikeston's Man of the Year Thursday night at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at Ramada Inn. Dr. Carl Popp was presented the Distinguished Service Award.

Master of Ceremonies Sam Harbin, superintendent of Sikeston public schools, said Ferrell is a man interested in others who has pride in the community and is willing to work.

Ferrell called it a great honor for himself and his family.

Ferrell is beginning his second year as mayor of Sikeston. He is a landowner and has operated a successful business for the last 20 years.

"He has been recognized by four Missouri governors for his business ability by having him serve as supervisor of a state agency," Harbin said. "His most outstanding abilities are those of getting along with people. He is noted for accomplishing whatever tasks he undertakes and is a man proud of Sikeston and a man Sikeston should be proud of," Harbin continued.

"His involvement with people, organizations and our city, as well as his family and business, shows him to be a responsible person with much interest in his community, state and nation," Harbin said.

Ferrell has been or is a member of such organizations as the First Baptist Church, Explorer Scout program, Sikeston Chamber of Commerce, Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation, SeMo Shrine club, SeMo Shrine Mounted Patrol, Sikeston Elks Lodge 2319, Sikeston Lodge 310 AF & AM, Kingsway Chapter 144, Moolah Shrine Temple, El Camino Council 52, St. Louis Lodge of Perfection- Scottish Rite, People to People Chapter, American Legion, Sikeston Pilots Association and the Bootheel Democratic Club.

Ferrell has served as a member of the board of directors and vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, president of the airport board, president of the Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation, president of the Amvets Post, president of the People to People Chapter of Southeast Missouri, president and secretary- treasurer of the SeMo Shrine Club, general chairman of the SeMo Shrine Mounted Patrol annual horse shows and treasurer of the Men's Friendship Class of First Baptist Church.

He was a pilot and flight instructor during World War II, he was the first area civil defense commander, a volunteer fireman, deputy sheriff of Scott County and has been a member of the board of directors and executive board of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation.

He has served as secretary- treasurer of the Bootheel Democratic Club for 19 years, is a member of the City Council, has served as a transportation officer of the 35th Division of the National Guard unit located in Sikeston and as a member of the Civil Air Patrol and was instrumental in helping to organize the Amvets Post, the civil defense program, people to people chapter and the first annual Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo.

Ferrell has also been active in working with the American Cancer Society, Shriners Hospital, United Fund and Braille Foundation.

Dr. Popp was presented the Distinguished Service Award for his efforts in establishing the intensive care unit at Missouri Delta Community Hospital. He is director of the unit.

L. Goebel Patton, the guest speaker, told the audience "we'd better be better in accepting change; we should accept it as an opportunity and a challenge and not a threat."

Patton, a leading spokesman for education, is superintendent of schools in West Frankfort, Ill. He said people should be using their education more effectively. He said today we have more knowledge than anyone before in history, but less understanding.

He said educators are failing to orient youth towards work. There is great dignity in any job, he said, if the job is done well.

Man of the year

Court explains bid decision on caterpillar

BENTON — Ed Kaiser, a representative of Missouri - Illinois Tractor and Equipment Co., met with the Scott County Court Thursday to ask why his low bid for a caterpillar was not accepted instead of a higher one by Fabick Bros. Equipment Co. of Sikeston.

The court told Kaiser that more than money was involved in the decision, including the fact that Fabick Bros. Equipment Co. is in Scott County and many men working for the county prefer Fabick's brand of equipment.

Kaiser told the court he was not angry because his bid wasn't accepted but that from now on he would not submit a bid since it would not be considered.

Dr. B. F. Holly of Illmo, who retired as special road district commissioner of Illmo- Scott City, asked the court to appoint Paul Davidson as his replacement.

Holly told the court Davidson is a rural mail carrier and would be ideal for the court since he knows the roads and their problems.

The court told Holly it could not appoint Davidson but a vote would be taken in Illmo and Scott City between Davidson and another person whose name had been submitted for the position.

Holly told the court this would not be fair since there are more aldermen in Scott City than in the Illmo district.

Dale Hartline of Imperial Floor Covering at Morehouse gave the court estimates on carpeting for the offices of circuit clerk, probate court, recorder's office, assessor's office, county clerk's office and county collector's office.

Other bids for carpeting the offices will be taken.

The court announced it will take bids for legal books for the circuit clerk's office.

Due to recent adjustments in local expenses for mileage through an agreement between the court and the Scott County Extension Council, more time is being alloted for an agronomist and youth specialists to spend in Scott County.

Agronomist John Garrett will spend at least two days a week in Scott County to assist farmers. The regularly scheduled days will be Wednesday and Thursday. Additional time will be spent when necessary for any emergencies or crisis situations.

Dee Allen Goedeke, youth agent for Scott County, will be in the Scott County Extension Center on regularly announced dates. Again, as needed situation arise, he will be in Scott County as much as his schedule will allow.

CAP on alert

The Civil Air Patrol of the state of Missouri has been called on a statewide alert for air surveillance and air transportation, according to Hugh T. McCollum, squadron commander of the Sikeston CAP unit.

The patrol alert was called to carry out air surveillance of the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers and the flood situations surrounding them.

McCollum received notice of the mission Thursday night. The patrol will have crews at Hannibal, Columbia, St. Louis, Cape Girardeau and Sikeston. Mission headquarters will be in St. Louis with a sub- base in Sikeston.

The patrol operates on a volunteer basis and at this time, McCollum said he does not know which location the Sikeston unit will be called to serve.

Red Cross funds are running out for flood victims

Little or no funds are left in the Missouri- Illinois Red Cross region appropriations for victims of the Mississippi River flood, according to the Rev. Pipes Jones, chairman of the Scott County Chapter of the Red Cross.

A great deal has been spent in Scott, Mississippi and New Madrid counties, the Rev. Mr. Jones said, and rent is being paid for four families in Scott County. Hundreds more are receiving aid from the other river counties.

The Red Cross is hard pressed to raise funds to finance the immediate and urgent needs of those who must quickly be moved, clothed and fed. Over $28 million has already been spent in 1973. It is apparent that adequate funds to see the Red Cross through the critical months which are to follow are not at hand.

The Rev. Mr. Jones says many people do not understand the work of the Red Cross. Its task is simply to meet the immediate needs of disaster victims and to give aid to those of the armed forces. No attempt is made to pay for losses, but merely to relocate people, feed them and give medical aid until victims can care for themselves.

The Rev. Mr. Jones states that, due to their misunderstanding, many people in the county have failed to contribute to the work of the Red Cross this year, that all the work must be done by volunteers and that he is working day and night to meet the needs of the people of Scott County.

He added that there is a great need for additional money and, although there will be no special drive, free-will contributions will gladly be accepted.

First high official resigns

New dimension to Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sudden, unexplained resignation of former Nixon campaign deputy Jeb S. Magruder from the Commerce Department adds a new dimension to the Watergate scandal.

It was the first resignation of any high administration official involved in the widening wire-tap affair.

In another development, The Washington Post, The New York Times and New York Daily News quoted sources as saying that Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III destroyed documents belonging to convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. after being told by presidential aides John Ehrlichman and John W. Dean III that the documents should "never see the light of day."

Enrlichman issued a statement through the White House press office confirming that at a June 1972 meeting in his White House office Dean gave Gray a sealed envelope containing "some of the contents of Hunt's safe."

"Mr. Gray was told by Mr. Dean that the contents were sensitive materials not in any way related to the Watergate case," said the statement. "I was present but neither than nor at any other time did I give Mr. Gray any request, suggestion or instruction regarding what should be done with the contents."

Dean and Gray could not be reached for comment.

Magruder reportedly had been both an accuser and an accused in case. He left his $36,000 - a - year job as Commerce Department director of policy development without formal notice. His lawyer, James J. Bierbower, was asked late Thursday night for an explanation, and said flatly, "There will be none."

Recent news reports have quoted Magruder as telling federal prosecutors that Mitchell and Dean, the White House counsel, approved and helped plan last summer's wiretapping of Democratic offices. Magruder also reportedly said the pair later arranged payoffs to silence the defendants in the case.

Dean has said publicly he won't be a scapegoat and has vowed privately to implicate others. News reports say Magruder broke down only after Dean made accusations of his own to prosecutors.

Magruder has declined to speak to newsmen since reports of his accusations broke into print. His lawyer has said he advised him not to make public statements.

In other Watergate developments:

— The Washington Post, quoting reliable sources, said that Dean told President Nixon on March 20 that "to save the presidency" Dean and Nixon's two top aides - H. R. Haldeman and Ehrlichman- would have to disclose all they knew about Watergate and face the possible consequence of going to jail. The Post said

45% OF AMERICAN
POW'S DIED IN PRISON

Mayor Floyd H. Kushner, a U. S. Army physician, who was a prisoner of the North Vietnamese for five years, said on his release recently that 45% of all American prisoners of war died of mistreatment. He charged that bad food and lack of medical treatment were the chief causes of death in the North Vietnam prison camps.

"Ten good men died in my arms," said Major Kushner at Valley Forge General Hospital, "and I'm damned mad about that. It was all the result of maltreatment." He added: "I have been beaten, I have been shackled, I have been mistreated, I have been placed in solitary confinement."

Staff Sgt. Isaiah McMillan, who had also been a prisoner, said at Fort Gordon, Ga., that at least twelve of his fellow prisoners of war had died in captivity from an improper diet and dysentery.

Unless the North Vietnam Communists show signs of a complete turnabout in their behavior -- which does not appear anywhere on the horizon of Indochina today -- it is idle to talk of giving any kind of aid to them. On the contrary!

The unwritten law, which as written in New Mexico allows a husband to shoot his wife's lover if he finds the two in bed together, was repealed in a 61-6 vote by the New Mexico House. An equal rights move by some legislators to attach an amendment to the law giving a wife the right to shoot any woman found in a compromising situation with her husband was defeated.

And so the El Paso Herald - Post heading for the story observed: "N. M. Lovers Breathe Easier."

UNION OFFICIALS FAVORED OVER PUBLIC INTEREST SSIC CHARGES IN CONGRESSIONAL HEARINGS

A question as to whether the self- interest of union officials is being placed above the public interest by the Special Subcommittee on Labor of the U.S. House of Representatives has been raised by the Southern States Industrial Council.

The Council submitted to the Subcommittee a statement strongly opposing a bill sponsored by its Chairman, Rep. Frank Thompson (D, N.J.) which would extend the coverage of the National Labor Relations Act to employees of non- profit hospitals. The Subcommittee held two days of hearings on the bill, H.R. 1236.

In its statement for the hearings record, the SSIC said the bill would extend "all the abuses which have been the outgrowth of our national labor law to service institutions which, above all others, should be free from strikes, slowdowns, picketing and violence." The Council, which represents 3,000 companies employing over 3 million persons and is headquartered in Nashville, Tenn., declared that in the case of hospitals, union formulated disruptions could cause suffering and even death.

A bill by Rep. Thompson identical to the one currently under consideration was rushed out of the Committee last year and passed by the House but died at the end of the 92nd Congress when the Senate failed to act upon it.

According to the SSIC, enactment of H.R. 1236 would have tremendous repercussions throughout the entire area of labor- management relations. It would for the first time extend by legislative enactment the coverage of the NLRA beyond the limits set by Congress. Because of its significance, the SSIC said, the legislation should be submitted to exhaustive examination and lengthy public hearings. However, the SSIC statement pointed out, the hearings last year were abbreviated and only two days of hearings were set this year, closing out a long list of qualified witnesses who wanted to testify on effects of extending the NLRA.

"Union officials keep coming back again and again to press Congress for more privileges and more power," the Council said. "It is no surprise that they should be exerting pressure so soon again to bring more workers under the NLRA-- the act which has worked so much in their favor, to the detriment of employes and the rights of many individual employees who do not want union representation. The question is being asked, however, as to whether the House Special Subcommittee on Labor and the House Labor Committee should not be more resistant to union pressure.

"Is enough consideration being given to the needs, wishes and problems of the great majority of the labor force which is non- union, and the proper balancing of the rights of employers against the rights of unions?" the SSIC asked. "We believe the members of this Subcommittee should ask themselves whether promoting the unionization of hospital workers would be in the best interest of the people who voted them into office. The history of what has happened to industry under the NLRA provides convincing proof that transplanting these abuses to the area of hospital care would be a disservice to the American people."

A spokesman for the SSIC, is commenting upon the statement filed with the Subcommittee, said an examination of the ratings given by the union politcal organization (COPE) to the voting records of all members of Congress showed that most of the members of the House Labor Committee vote the way union officials want them to vote most of the time.

JEOPARDIZING THE FUTURE

Bitter experience is showing that playing politics with basic industries that produce necessities can exact a high price -- particularly in the area of natural resource management. We have had power shortages from delayed power plant construction. Unwise taxation and regulation of the oil and natural gas industry threaten future supplies of these essential fuels. Now there is conflict over utilization of the nation's forest lands.

Investor - owned timber companies exercising the most advanced timber "farming" techniques can assure the nation a perpetual timber supply -- if sufficient commercial timberlands remain available for the efficient application of the multiple - use philosophy advocated by the timber industry. But, narrow conservationists have made a popular issue in legislative chambers over locking up, for purely recreational purposes, ever larger tracts of timberlands. People need recreation areas. But, they need homes too, and wood products are an essential ingredient of home construction.

Modern conservationists have recognized the necessity of blending the aesthetic side of life with the practical. As timber companies demonstrate the wisdom and the feasibility of combining business with pleasure in land use, they are drawing an increasingly favorable response. Typical of this response is the editorial comment of the Portland, Oregon, Journal. It says, "It is indisputably true that the nation cannot solve one of its major social problems, the housing shortage, without more timber. It is also true that more timber can be channeled into meeting this need, without jeopardizing the forests of the future, if growth is expanded and speeded by a variety of improved timber management practices." Timber is a renewable natural resource. But, here as elsewhere in the natural resource field, shortsighted political acts can jeopardize future supplies.

SMOOTH AUTO TIRES CAN GIVE ROUGH TIME

Bald tires have been found to be up to 44 times more likely to suffer disablement than new tires. The risk of skidding, which is 5 to 10 times more likely with average tread depth on wet roads than on dry roads, is doubled with bald tires, according to the Tire Industry Safety Council.

PAPER PLANTS PRAISED FOR POLLUTION CONTROL

The pulp and paper industry has made "remarkable" progress in air and water pollution control since 1970, placing it years ahead of other industries such as steel and utilities, the Council on Economic Priorities said recently in announcing results of an industry survey updating an initial critical report issued two years ago.

The Council, a non-profit group headquartered in New York City, said its latest survey indicates the industry will have achieved adequate pollution control at most of its mills in 1975

It singled out five companies that "presently have good overall records in pollution control." They are Georgia-Pacific Corp., Owens-Illinois, Fibreboard, International Paper and Hoerner Waldorf.

THE WONDER OF REPUBLIC U. S. A.

It is the wonderful people and the freedom of the profit-motive system which created the wonder of Republic USA. All the earth marveled at this new nation created out of a vast wilderness. The "intellectuals" of Europe scoffed at the idea that the people did not need a king or a big government bureaucracy to rule over them and to control their work and take care of them.

The new idea that free men could look after themselves and their families better than any king or commissar proved to be so correct that the new Republic in the wilderness rapidly became by far the richest nation on earth. Older countries, bogged down in their old collectivist ways and, dearful of Truth and Freedom, envied the progressive new Republic USA.

Those who denied men could be free grew to have heavy influence in education. For nearly 100 years they have assumed and taught several generations of students that it was the richness of our natural resources which made the United States the wealthiest nation.

The truth should be recognized. The facts are there plain to see. We are blessed with a rich land. However, it is the people and the profit-motive system of freedom which made us the envy of the world, because we now know that there is more of every resource in other lands than there ever has been in our own country. The fact is that free people find and use the resources, where others had ignored them for tens of thousands of years. If other lands become free, they too can prosper and progress. HLH.

MUNDABRILLA, Australia (AP) — Mundabrilla is a collection of cottages occupied by maintenance men for Australia's transcontinental railway. It's 775 miles east of Perth and 1,687 miles west of Sydney—the two cities that a train called the Indian-Pacific links in a trip that takes the best part of three days and three nights.

The train is air-conditioned and has a club car, dining car, single and twin roomettes, showers and easy chairs. Most of the time it's booked months in advance.

The Indian-Pacific is so named because it is a link between those two oceans.

Out from Mundabrilla, going east, the stunted mulga and mallee trees become fewer as the train rolls toward the Nullarbor plain at a steady 60 miles an hour.

Nullarbor is Latin for "not any trees" and the rail track runs for 420 miles across this limestone plain with never a tree in sight—perfectly flat with only saltbush or spinifex grass as far as one can see.

There's no town in this area, only occasional groupings of railroad workers' cottages and places which watered the locomotives before diesel-electrics took over from steam.

The express stops at few of these settlements. They are served by the affectionately named Tea and Sugar, a train that includes clothing and grocery stores, a butcher, correspondence course teachers for the children, a nurse, and at times a doctor and a dentist.

The trans-Australia railroad is single track much of the 2,461 miles, but there are sidetracks for the Indian-Pacific to slip past freight trains a mile long.

The meals in the dining car, of tourist ship standard, are included in the price of the ticket, and as on ships people quickly become friendly.

The one-way fare of $151.87 first class, $115.44 economy compares with the air fare of $220.24 first or $184.32 economy.

Running of the Indian-Pacific became possible in 1970 with the completion of standardgauge tracks from Perth to Fremantle, and on the "missing link" between Port Pirie in south Australia and Broken Hill in western New South Wales. There used to be different gauges.

People talk of the days 20 years ago, when rail travel across the Nullarbor desert was in stifling hot steam trains with no air-conditioning. In those days they handed out big brown paper bags in which to put your clothes at night to protect them from the dust.

Like all Australian trains, the Indian-Pacific is governmentowned and operated.

FBI Reportedly Netted Godfather of Godfathers

NEW YORK-- One of the most predatory specters haunting the rag jungle here may soon be forced by the federals to exchange posh night spots for less convivial quarters and learn finally that iron bars do a prison make.

His FBI criminal file number is 691539. Usually and nattily he goes by the name of Russ Bufalino who--- though the spotlight and coroners' attentions have been on more famed Mafiosi--- is considered by the government's special agents as "one of the most ruthless and powerful leaders of the Mafia in the U.S."

Not often does he break into the news as he did last Friday night when four federal agents arrested him in a Scranton, Pa., nightclub. He's out on bail, of course, under charges of Hobbs Act violations.

But Russ Bufalino is more than just another alleged Mafia suspect picked up in a dragnet with 17 others arraigned in Buffalo. The 69- year- old, 5- foot- 8, 166 pound Bufalino carries tremendous weight. Despite his nurtured obscurity, he is considered one of the most influential of American dons. He has what is called a Mafia "family" of his own.

Supposedly, he is in more legitimate businesses than any of the bosses except Don Carlo Gambino and Meyer Lansky of old Murder, Inc. days.

In fact, despite his wraithlike existence on the national scene, despite his tightly ruled suzerainty in the New York City- Eastern Pennsylvania- Upper and Western New York snakelike territory (if drawn on a map), Bufalino is considered by some Justice Dept. officials as powerful as any boss of bosses.

In many a federal record he has been reported as dealing in narcotics smuggling and stolen jewels and furs.

So, while the heat and the bugs and the grand jury probes and headlines are on the spectaculars, the urbane Bufalino, who would be deported if any nation would take him, deals quietly in power. He has lived sedately in Kingston, Pa.--- and has ruled considerable business in the rag jungle (the garment area) of New York and shops right across the state.

So the lesson is--- there's as much power in the shadow as there is in the Gambinos.

Maybe more. Bufalino is credited by some authorities with contacts as far west as central California and Texas. These specialists believe he organized the legendary Apalachin crime cookout Mafia convention in 1957.

Though his Mafia "family" is tiny, it's tough. Inside "the organization" he is "respected." No "Godfather" antics for him.

There are federal law enforcement officials who believe this quiet man from Kingston and Pittston, Pa., is one of the newest "members" of what the trade calls the alleged Mafia "National Commission."

Very little happens inside organized crime without its actual or tacit approval.

It is the executive council. In recent years, some of its members have died (such as Vito Genovese) or have gone to prison (such as New England's Ray Patriarca) or have been shot into a vegetable (such as Joe Colombo). Few know, for example, that "Russ" was there when "Joe" was shot.

Russ has known and knows most of "them." I don't know much about the current charges of Bufalino's alleged threats against a vending machine company which competed with a reportedly Mafia outfit. But Bufalino has been more than a wraith in New York City. Somehow he has worked closely with most of the Eastern dons.

And with their brass-knuckled, acid- handed muscle such as the Luchese mob's Johnny Dio, the brutal Genovese hoods such as the late Tommy (Ryan) Eboli and the imprisoned Jerry Catena. Bufalino walked the teaming, hawkish rag jungle alleys with the mob trucking boss known as "Abe Chait," now among the departed.

And he has lent his iron-fisted hand (no idle description, this) to the Colombo family. He has staked some of them to dress shops and trucking. He has given them the support they need now that Joe Colombo lives--- if you can call it that--- as a human vegetable which breathes.

And through it all, Russell Bufalino, friend of convict fight- racketeer Frankie Carbo, Big John Ormento (in prison for years to come), tough "Nig" Rosen, Vito Genovese, and Philadelphia's Angelo Bruno--- and a national network of living and dead Mafiosi--- has been in the lucrative labor- trouble- or- else business for years.

Russ Bufalino can go to the federal pen for the rest of his life if convicted and the Justice Dept.'s coordinated antiorganized crime strike forces will have done one of the finest jobs of unpolluting some politics, some businesses, some labor, and contemporary civilization itself.

Putting Pupfish First

WASHINGTON-- Forced to choose between 200 ugly, inedible pupfish or a millionaire GOP contributor, the Nixon Administration has put the welfare of the pupfish first.

These tiny, wriggly, disagreeable- looking creatures have survived as a species for 10,000 years by sticking to themselves in Devils Hole, Nevada. In this single water hole--- and nowhere else in the world--- they feed and reproduce under the protection of the Interior Department.

Any substantial drop in the water level could end their Ice Age lineage in a couple of days. Yet the water ominously began to slip lower two years ago as a big rancher drilled wells nearby for irrigation.

The rancher, Francis L. Cappaert, a Vicksburg, Miss., millionaire, has been a major contributor to President Nixon's campaigns. He donated heavily to Nixon in both 1968 and 1972. The records for 1972, for example, show he scattered at least $207,000 among Nixon's various campaign kitties.

After Cappaert tapped into the water table and began pumping out the underground water, the level in Devils Hole began to sink. Interior hastily enlisted the Justice Department to help save the unique desert fish.

A few days ago, the Justice lawyers prevailed and a federal judge issued an injunction against the pumping. Result: The Ice Age pupfish no longer face extinction in a dry hole, although the Republicans may find a dry hole the next time they approach Cappaert for campaign funds.

ERRAND BOY: The Powerful chemical companies have a new errand boy on Capitol Hill. He is an aggressive, articulate freshman, Rep. Samuel H. Young, R— Ill., who has put up a backstage battle to emasculate a bill designed to protect the health and environment against toxic substances.

In his eagerness to do the chemical industry's bidding, he made four separate attacks on a bill to control toxic substances. Each time, he was rebuffed by his colleagues on the House Commerce and Finance subcommittee.

Young didn't mention to his colleagues that his election campaign was heavily financed by chemical executives. Daniel J. Terra, president of Lawter Chemicals, Inc., of Northbrook, Ill., funneled $10,000 to Young's campaign through four separate campaign committees.

Foster McGaw, past president of American Hospital Supply, a firm with extensive chemical interests, gave $4,200 to Young through two separate committees.

Indeed, our investigation indicates Terra was the sole contributor to the "Youth for Young" committee. He was joined only by McGaw on two other dummy committees.

Young explained to us that he "was trying to keep a broad new law within proper lines." He had no contact regarding the legislation with his chemical contributors, he added.

HOOVER'S HOARD: An American art collector has bought up at auction 50 items from J. Edgar Hoover's bric-a-brac collection and offered to put them on tour in the Soviet Union, Hoover's lifetime adversary.

In a letter to Soviet Culture Minister Yekaterina Furtseva, collector Robert Simmons of Washington conceded that the late FBI director was "a vigorous anti- Communist. At the same time, however, he was a warm and generous human being and, I am sure, would have been delighted by the latest developments in the field of cultural exchange."

The collection, which we have seen in part, ranges from a handsome chess set to a handmake basket of popsickle sticks. There is also a whiskey decanter shaped like a hand grenade and another that plays "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." As Simmons confided to Furtseva, it is "not one of the Old Masters (but) a cross-section of one man's taste."

BRASS RING: The brass ring, good for a free ride on the Washington Merry- Go- Round, is awarded today to Joe Towne of Sacramento. The former Air Force radar technician developed eye cataracts after being exposed to microwave rays while he flew in electronic- bristling spy planes for nearly 10 years.

Since his 1966 retirement, he has won national recognition as the "Ralph Nader of Microwaves." With the help of his wife, Dotty, he has deluged congressmen, newsmen and government officials with letters, urging them to look into the damaging effects of microwaves on eyes.

The office of Sen. John Tunney credits Towne, in part, with inspiring the Senate's first critical hearing on microwave and X- ray effects. Towne had looked forward to attending them. But he has been stricken with a coronary complication and the threat of amputation of both legs. He wonders if his circulatory problems couldn't also have been caused by radiation. Russian and Czech studies, he says, indicate this possibility.

Between his circulatory and cataract problems, however, he was unable to fly to the hearings he was so instrumental in precipitating.

Frazier-Miles

VANDUSER — Miss Mary Alice Miles and Eugene Frazier Jr. were united in marriage in a double- ring ceremony March 31 at 7 p.m. by the Rev. Cline Ables at Vanduser Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold C. Miles of Vanduser, and Frazier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frazier of Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. Barbara Wallace of Sikeston was pianist and Mrs. Peggy Sadler of Sikeston was soloist.

A mixture of blue and pink carnations and lavender gladiolas accented on both sides by candles were the setting for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose an ivory gown of crepe overlaid with ivory chiffon. The gown featured a high neckline and was accented by ivory lace with a lavender ribbon. The sleeves were of sheer chiffon and the wide cuffs were trimmed with ivory lace and a lavender ribbon. The A-line skirt was trimmed on the high waist. The floor- length train was also of sheer chiffon. The headpiece was an ivory floor length three- tiered veil of English illusion held with lace petals and accented with pearls.

The bride's only jewelery was a diamond necklace, a gift from the groom, and she carried a bouquet of pink, white and blue carnations and lilies of the valley surrounding a lavender rose.

Miss Connie Frazier of Cape Girardeau, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Karen Wibbenmeyer of Cape Girardeau served as matron of honor. They wore identical floor-length gowns of lavender, blue and pink, trimmed with a waistband of lavender velvet ribbon. They wore headpieces of lavender, blue and pink flowers which matched their bouquets.

Danny Lynn of Cape Girardeau, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Groomsman was Steve Frazier of Cape Girardeau, brother of the groom.

Doug Woodard of Cape Girardeau and Alan Alliston of Sikeston were ushers.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a blue dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Frazier chose for her son's wedding a two- piece green dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church's reception hall with Mrs. Sharon Woodard Mrs. Barbara Lynn of Cape Girardeau and Miss Shirley Burton serving.

The couple now lives at Morley.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frazier Jr.

Douglas-Wood

EAST PRAIRIE-- Judith Wood became the wife of Jerry Douglas on April 19 in a 7 p.m. ceremony at the home of her parents. The Rev. Martin Lucas, Christian Church minister, performed the double- ring ceremony in front of the white marble fireplace in the parlor of what was once the home of the late Dr. Albert Martin and Mrs. Martin, grandparents of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Walden are parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mrs. La Wanda Douglas of East Prairie and Verlon L. Douglas of St. Louis.

The bride, wearing a long blue gown and carrying a bridal bouquet of spring flowers, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Raymond Skaggs of Fredericktown, the matron of honor. Jim Douglas served his brother as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining room. Guests were served wedding cake, punch and coffee by Karla Wood, daughter of the bride, and Cydney Rae Skaggs, the bride's niece.

The new Mrs. Douglas chose a navy blue dress with white collar, complimented with a white corsage for the wedding trip to Kentucky Lake.

The newlyweds are now at home in the former A.C. Shelby home. Mrs. Douglas is a teacher in the East Prairie public school system, and the groom is associated with his mother in the insurance business.

Terri Ann Terrell

Terrell-Shaver

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Terrell, 835 William, announce the engagement of their daughter Terri Ann to Loyde Dale Shaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Shaver, 507 William St.

She is secretary- treasurer of the high school drama club, a member of Concert Choir, is active in Sikeston Little Theatre and was recipient of this year's Dr. Tom L. Chidester Memorial Award presented recently by the Little Theatre group.

Ann Landers

Older boys should not imitate mothers; nor girls their fathers

Dear Ann Landers: I disagree with your notion that young boys should be discouraged from playing with dolls and young girls ought not to play with toy guns. You seemed to think that these youngsters would be confused about their sex roles and just might possibly grow up to be queer.

What's the matter with boys learning to be fathers the same way girls learn to be mothers? One of the major problems in our family was that my dad never had anything to do with his children. As for guns, I played Cowboys and Indians with my brothers until I was in my early teens and I still love to hunt and shoot. So far as I know I am perfectly normal.

Please change your advice before you do some serious damage. Millions of people accept your word as gospel.--- I'm O.K., How Are You?

Dear O.K.: Thanks for your letter, but the advice stands as stated. I see nothing wrong in boys playing with dolls at a very early age, but when they get to be ten and eleven, they should not continue to imitate their mothers, which is the thrust of my objection.

As for girls playing with toy guns, I am opposed to toy guns for BOTH girls and boys, of any age. Guns are for killing and there are already too many gun- lovers loose in this "dangerous and untidy world."

Dear Ann Landers: I worked as a salesperson for five years and decided to go to secretarial school at age 29. It was a wonderful decision and I have an excellent position with a good firm.

My first problem has arisen and I don't know how to cope with it. The boss left for an overseas trip last week. I decided to be super- efficient and straighten out his disheveled desk drawers. Unfortunately, I came across some pornographic pictures and obscene literature which I wish I had never seen. When he returns he will know I saw it because his drawers will be orderly. I'm afraid we will both be embarrassed. What should I do?--- Meant Well In Jacksonville

Dear M.W.: Put the drawers back the way they were. And from now on, stay out of the boss's desk.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me if you think I am overly sensitive. The problem concerns our grandchildren, aged 11, 12 and 13. They have never given their grandfather or me a little gift of any kind.

Not that we need anything, mind you, but how we would appreciate a box of homemade cookies, or something turned out in school. I see my friends with their hand- hemmed dish towels, pot holders, a paper plant, a corner bracket made in woodwork and wrapped in second- hand gift paper but carried in loving hands.

I tell myself it's not their fault, these little ones--- that their parents never taught them to give, just take. Every year since they have been old enough to talk they've let us know what they want for Christmas, and we never disappointed them. Am I expecting too much?-- A Grandma

Dear Grandma: Children can learn from grandparents as well as parents. Eleven- 12- and 13- year- olds are not babies. They will understand when you tell them that people should be givers as well as takers. And I hope you will provide them with this Lesson in Living in the presence of their parents. They might learn something, too.

Can drugs be a friend in time of stress? If you keep your head together can they be of help? Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs" separates the fact from the fiction. Get it today. For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16c postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Mr. and Mrs. James Woodward

Woodward-Miller

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Double- ring wedding vows uniting Miss Pamela Miller of Dexter and James Woodward of Sikeston were exchanged April 13 in the chapel of Southeast Missouri State University.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller of Dexter, and Woodward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Woodward of Sikeston.

A center arch holding white tapers and adorned with greenery formed the setting for the wedding vows. Candelabras on each side of wedding baskets of white daisies and snapdragons were at the altar.

Organ selections from Bach and Beethoven were played prior to the ceremony and during the service. The Rev. Tom Kozeny officiated.

The bride wore a pastel blue floor- length gown of single knit. The dress featured a floor- length skirt, long sleeves accented with cuffs and ruffles and a high neckline bordered in a double ruffle. Ruffles also created a bib effect to the bodice of the gown which featured a raised waistline. She wore a halo of fresh white daisies in her hair with blue streamers. She carried an arrangement of white orchid and white daisies arranged atop a white Bible.

The bride's sister, Miss Jennifer Miller of Dexter, was maid of honor. She wore a floor- length gown of pink double knit styled with long Juliet sleeves. It featured a puff inset of white accented with pink embroidered rosebues. She wore a white daisy halo in her hair with pink streamers and carried a nosegay of daisies.

Attending the groom as best man was Mark Schumacher of Sikeston. The groom selected a suit of burgundy design, a pink shirt and wore a pink rosebud boutonniere. Schumacher chose a navy suit and wore a white carnation boutonniere.

Candlelighter was Miss Vicki Smyth, cousin of the bride. She wore a street-length dress of gold and white.

Mrs. Miller selected for her daughter's wedding a dress of muted pink tones. She wore white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Woodward chose for her son's wedding a melon dress with white accessories. She also wore a white gardenia corsage.

Following the ceremony, a champagne reception was held at the newlyweds' apartment in Cape Girardeau. The round serving table was accented with an antique brass candelabra.

The former Miss Miller is a 1969 graduate of Dexter High School and will graduate this spring from Southeast Missouri University with a major in speech pathology.

The groom graduated from Sikeston High School in 1969 and returned from Vietnam in December. He has resumed studies at the university where he is a sophomore.

Sherman-Stone

JONESBORO, Ark. — Reba Ann Stone and Roy Forrester Sherman were married at 4 p.m. April 21 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Stone.

Sherman is the son of Mrs. Roy F. Sherman and the late Mr. Sherman of Catron, Mo.

Mrs. David Kimmel served as her sister's only attendant, and John T. Sherman of Sikeston, Mo., was his brother's best man. Ushers were James Hudson and David G. Kimmel.

The Rev. Wayne Clark of Corning performed the double- ring ceremony. A reception was held at the home following the ceremony.

Both are graduates of Arkansas State University. Sherman is employed as territorial manager for the B. F. Goodrich Co., and Mrs. Sherman is an instructor for the Little Rock public schools.

After a wedding trip, the couple will live at 5036 Edgemere Drive, in North Little Rock.

Out- of -town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sherman and daughers and Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman of Sikeston, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Westmoreland of Catron and Mrs. and Mrs. Chas. Shelby and daughters of Poplar Bluff, Mo.

McGraw defies catcher's call

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a good thing that Tug McGraw doesn't listen to his catcher. Duffy Dyer said, "screwball" and McGraw replied, "fastball."

The New York Mets' star relief pitcher then threw the pitch of his choice past Cesar Cedeno for a key strikeout that helped preserve a 2-1 victory over the Houston Astros Thursday night.

"I shook off Dyer three times before he called the fastball," said McGraw about a tense ninth-inning situation. "I had thrown screwball, screwball and curveball. I just felt that I could get the fastball past him, and that's what happened."

McGraw, who had entered the game after starter Jim McAndrew pitched seven innings, gave up a leadoff single in the ninth to ex-Met Tommie Agee that put the potential winning run at the plate.

McGraw got Tommy Helms on a fly ball before striking out the heavy-hitting Cedeno. Then Bob Watson bounced out and McGraw had his fourth save of the young season.

The San Francisco Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-3 in the only other National League game played Thursday. In the American League, the Detroit Tigers beat the Texas Rangers 3-2; the Milwaukee Brewers notched a 7-3 victory over the Kansas City Royals and the Oakland A's nipped the Cleveland Indians 3-2.

Chris Speier and Gary Thomasson batted in two runs each as San Francisco won its fourth straight game and ninth in the last 10. The victory put the high-riding Giants 2½ games up over Cincinnati in the NL West.

"I can't remember when we swept a series over the Cubs in Wrigley Field," said San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox. "But it's a good, good feeling to come in here and win three in a row."

District tourney's get underway Monday

The Missouri state high school baseball district tournaments get underway Monday, April 30 with Hayti, Oran, Chaffee, and Cape Girardeau hosting area tournaments.

The state baseball tournaments have been divided into two classes for 1973. The Kelly Hawks are the defending Sectional champions.

In the district tournament at Hayti, the Indians are seeded first with the Bernie Mules second. Hayti has fireballing righthander, Randy Gardner to go against the Mules ace, Dell Walker, a flashy lefthander who has a good hitting eye to back his pitching. Gideon and Senath-Hornersville are seeded third and fourth respectively.

At Cape Girardeau, the hosting Tigers are the number one seeded team, followed by Poplar Bluff, Jackson third, and Fredericktown fourth.

At Chaffee, the Red Devils have big Scott Thomas to carry them into the number one spot. The 6-7 flame thrower already has a no-hitter to his credit. Notre Dame is seeded second, Piedmont third, and Illmo Scott City fourth.

At Oran, the Kelly Hawks are seeded number one behind the pitching duo of Jeff Jacksond Kenny Urhahn. Both hurlers have a no-hitter for the season. Jackson pitched the Hawks al the way to the regional last year, losing only to Lafayette of St. Louis, the eventual state champion.

The Lilbourn Panthers are picked for second, New Madrid is seeded third and the East Prairie Eagles are seeded fourth.

Indians try again Saturday

CAPE GIRARDEAU — With an overabundance of spring showers slowly washing away its 1973 schedule, Southeast Missouri State University's baseball squad is hopeful of a few rainless days so it can get in five final doubleheaders.

Rain has taken toll of eight dates on the Indian diamond schedule including five doubleheaders, two of which were to be with MIAA foes.

Should the rains terminate, the Indians will play their second conference twinbill of the year Saturday against Lincoln University at 1 p.m. in Capaha Park.

Then, on Tuesday (May 1) the Indians will be in Evansville, Ind., for a pair with Indiana State.

Uhls is somewhat concerned about how his players will be Saturday as they have not been in action since April 14. Not only have the rains forced cancellation of games, but they also cut down on practice sessions as well.

Lincoln raised its MIAA record to 3-3 last week end by taking a pair from Northwest Missouri State. The Tigers had previously split with Rolla and lost two to Southwest Missouri State.

Uhls said he plans to start Puxico southpaw Galen McSpadden and Sikeston freshman Robert Blankenship in Saturday's twinbill.

Against Indiana State Uhls said Terry Bazzell, a freshman from Jackson is a likely starter in one of the games. The hurler in the other game will probably be either junior Steve Elfrank of Festus or Charles Powell, a senior from Crystal City.

If the Indians can play and win the next four games, they will tie the record for the most wins by a baseball team in the 15- year history of the sport at Southeast Missouri State.

Remaining games:
April 28, Lincoln University, Home, 1 p.m.
May 1, Indiana State, Evansville, Ind. 2 p.m.
May 5, Northwest Missouri State, Maryville, 1 p.m.
May 8 University of Evansville, Home, 1:30 p.m.
May 12 University of Missouri, Rolla, 1 p.m.
All games are doubleheaders

The latest cancellations took away five games and prevented the Tribe from having its 12-0 record challenged.

A re- scheduled game with Washington University in St. Louis was rained out April 18 and then the following afternoon a home twinbill with Quincy College was erased by rain. Tuesday the Indians were slated for one of their toughest tests of the season against nationally-ranked University of Missouri -- St. Louis, but once again the rain extended its veto.

Indian baseball coach Joe Uhls said there is a possibility that the UMSL twinbill can be rescheduled. However, it is doubtful.

Sizemore disabled

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals' leading hitter, second baseman Ted Sizemore, was placed on the 15-day disabled list Thursday due to a leg injury suffered Wednesday night.

Sizemore, who is hitting .333, suffered a hamstring injury when he tried to beat a double play relay to first base in the first inning of a game against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Cardinals also announced they were sending lefthanded pitcher John Andrews to their Tulsa farm club. Andrews had compiled a 5.14 earned run average in seven games this spring.

Knicks seek clincher

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Silas and Dave DeBusschere, two of the best rebounders and defensive forwards in basketball, will resume their private war within a war tonight when the New York Knicks seek to end their National Basketball Association playoff series against the Boston Celtics.

The Knicks lead the Celtics 32 in the best-of-7 Eastern Conference finals and a victory in tonight's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) game would move them into the NBA finals against the defending champion Los Angeles Lakers, who beat Golden State 4-1 in the West.

Meanwhile, the American Basketball Association's championship playoff series between the Kentucky Colonels and Indiana Pacers gets under way Saturday in a nationally televised game at Louisville, Ky.

Both those teams finished second during the regular season, but Kentucky defeated Carolina 4-3 for the East Division title and Indiana took Utah 4-2 for the West Division crown.

Silas, the 6-foot-7 veteran who came to the Celtics from Phoenix following last season in exchange for the rights to Charlie Scott, was an unlikely hero in Boston's 98-97 victory in Game No. 5 Wednesday night. He scored just nine points—but they included a 30-foot bank shot that was the Celtics' only basket in the final eight minutes, and two free throws with seven seconds left on the clock which put the Celtics on top for good.

DeBusschere, meanwhile, has does his usual workmanlike job, which has been good enough to earn him All-Star and All-NBA defensive team honors. He's averaging 17.8 points and 9.4 rebounds per game against Boston, and knows he'll have to concentrate on keeping Silas away from the boards.

If the Celtics win, the seventh and deciding game will be played in Boston Sunday afternoon. If not, the Knicks go on to meet Los Angeles—and Boston, the team with the best regular-season record in the NBA, will go home.

Rebels win twinbill

BLOOMFIELD — Coach Robert Jones' Richland Rebels Diamond men swept a doubleheader from the BHS Wildcats here Wednesday afternoon, shutting out their host 6-0 in the first game and edging the Wildcats 4-3 in the nightcap to bring their record to 3-4 for the season.

Although the Rebels were out hit 6-5 in the first game the Rebels took advantage of some costly errors by the Wildcats to score five big runs in the top of the fifth to put the game away.

Richland crossed the plate in the top of the first inning and the run turned out to be the only one they would need for the win.

The hitting for Richland was divided up between five different players as five singles were all Baldwin allowed for Bloomfield.

Jackson and Baldwin had two hits apiece for the Wildcats. Jim Clay was the winning pitcher and Bob Baldwin took the loss for Bloomfield.

Bloomfield also out hit the Rebels in the nightcap but came up short in the scoring column as the Wildcats couldn't manage to put their safeties together.

Richland fell behind in the bottom of the first frame as Bloomfield plated two runs but came back in the top of the second to tie the score 2-2.

Richland pulled out in front in the top of the fourth, scoring a lon run and added their final tally in the top of the fifth. The Wildcats rallied for a lone run in the bottom of the fifth but Al Brock, the winning pitcher put the fire out before the Cats could do any more damage.

This week's Uniform INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Dr. William H. Taft

Scripture: John 20:26-29; Romans 10:6-11

MAN RESPONDS THROUGH FAITH

Never a day goes by that something doesn't happen to test one's faith. For most persons this faith is displayed in their expectations that their cars will start each morning.

Our faith will carry us throughout each day. Without faith there is hardly any justification for one to live.

Today's memory lesson is brief and challenging: "Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved."

Jesus realized that human beings frequently experience periods of depression, brought on by our doubts and our lack of faith, often faith in ourselves or our ability to perform certain acts.

It is hardly unusual for persons to doubt such events as the Resurrection. Today there are still some persons who believe the world is flat, despite the feats of our astronauts in reaching the moon and sending back pictures of the round earth.

Thomas the apostle must have represented the group of doubters who found it difficult to believe in the Resurrection of Jesus. He demanded proof.

One shouldn't be too harsh on Thomas for most of us have a bit of his "doubting philosophy" in our own souls. Missourians pride themselves on wanting "to be shown," representing, no doubt, some lack of faith in certain areas.

The Bible tells us that none of the disciples actually believed the first reports that Christ had been raised from the dead. What if Thomas had failed to make an issue of this?

Would Thomas have been the last person to doubt the Resurrection? Certainly not. His response made it possible for Christ to restress the events as they occurred.

Jesus displayed compassion for Thomas. This is certainly another example of Jesus' teaching about our need for faith. He realized that we all need reminders and assurance from time to time.

Before unmistakable evidence Thomas confessed his commitment to Christ, who indirectly rebuked him for not believing the other disciples.

The world has many examples of the results of personal faith in Jesus. Guideposts magazine monthly reports such incidents.

After the stillborn birth of their fourth child Dallas football star Roger Staubach admitted a brief rebellion before he prayed to God for understanding.

"I felt this sudden sense of peace and comfort. The Lord was Lord. He was with my daughter and my father (who had died the same year). This world is not the end, but the beginning." the quarterback said.

Charles Atlas, the one-time weakling who became the nation's best known strong man, died recently. As a youth he suffered because of his physical deficiencies. Soon he turned to fervent prayer after seeing statues of mythical characters.

"I've seen men the way You made them, Jesus. The men in those statues. Help me to become strong, too." Atlas prayed. In his program for weaklings, Atlas advised all to recognize their bodies as temples of His Spirit.

Others who turn to Jesus express their faith in many ways. The Jesus Movement stresses the need for young persons to turn their faith in drugs to faith in Jesus. In their activities Jesus becomes very much alive.

Our faith should lead us to identification with the Christian community. Possibly this has become more difficult in our days, with the demands for proof in advertising claims, the research activities of Ralph Nader, and the charges and counter-charges of the presidential election.

Faith must see beyond tangible evidence. It must reflect a personal commitment to Christ. Honest doubt can be rewarding, although dishonest doubt hinders progress.

Our lives can only be as meaningful as our faith in Christ.

THE BIBLE

80. King Balak Sends for Balaam

Once the children of Israel had pitched camp in the plains of Moab, Balak, king of the Moabites, feared for his lands because he saw the havoc Israel had wrought upon the Amorites. Balak even warned the Moabites that the vast company of Israel should devour them as easily as an ox eats grass.

Therefore, he dispatched messengers to Balaam's home in Pethor, for fantastic blessings fell upon those whom Balaam blessed and certain doom upon those whom he cursed. The elders of Moab thus approached Balaam, offering him huge rewards if he would curse the children of Israel for Balak.

However, Balaam instructed the messengers to lodge with him that night, for he was unable to speak except as the Lord commanded him. That evening God came to Balaam and inquired of the men who lodged there. Balaam answered that Balak had sent them to request a curse upon the Israelites.

God admonished Balaam:

"... Thou shalt not go with them; thou shalt not curse the people: for they are blessed."

Numbers 22:12

Balaam obediently sent the princes of Moab away; however, Balak was not yet willing to sacrifice his plan.

Woods bound over on murder charge

CHARLESTON — Gary Wayne Woods, 28, of East Prairie was bound over to circuit court on a first degree murder charge following a preliminary hearing Thursday before Magistrate T. J. Brown Jr.

Woods is charged with shooting Manuel Hollis Gilliam, 37, of Matthews Route One, with a .22 caliber pistol outside Pee Wee's Tavern in East Prairie on March 24.

Witnesses called by Prosecuting Attorney W. Clifton Banta Jr. were Frank Hatton of Anniston, T. D. Fowler of Matthews Route One, and Mississippi County Coroner Elgin McMikle.

Hatton and Fowler were outside the tavern at the time of the shooting but neither man testified he saw the actual shooting.

Hatton testified he got to the tavern between 10 and 10:30 p.m. March 23 and remained there until the tavern closed about midnight. He said he heard Woods and Gilliam exchange words in what seemed like a friendly argument, but he did not listen to what the argument was about. According to Hatton, he and Fowler left the tavern together by the rear door and were talking when Woods drove around back in his pickup truck. Woods and Gilliam began to argue again and, according to Hatton, Gilliam told Woods that if he got out of his truck he would pounce his head, or words to that effect.

"I didn't hear any noise (shot), just a ping and then Gilliam fell," Hatton said. Woods reportedly got out of his truck and told the two men that Gilliam had taken a swing at him. Hatton said Woods had a gun in his hand when he got out of the truck.

Fowler testified that Gilliam was sitting with him at a table inside the tavern and that Woods was seated at the bar when the two men began to argue. He also testified that he did not know what the argument was about. Later, outside the tavern, Fowler said the two men began to argue again while Woods was sitting in his truck and Gilliam was some 10 feet away from the truck. He said he heard Gilliam tell Woods that if he got out he would whip him. "I heard the gun go off and I saw something in Wayne's hand, but I didn't see him shoot him," Fowler said.

According to Coroner McMikle, Gilliam was shot once in the left side of the chest, about one inch above the nipple. In his opinion, McMikle said, Gilliam died from a bullet which penetrated the left lung and that he died almost instantly.

Defense counsel's motion that the charge of first degree murder be dismissed was overruled by Judge Brown and Woods is to appear May 8 in Circuit Court. He remains free on $10,000 bond.

In other court action Thursday Judge Brown set May 3 as preliminary hearing date for Sammy Wise and Robert Michael Parr, both of Bertrand, each charged with rape.

Ivy Booker of Charleston, charged with assault with intent to kill and carrying a concealed weapon, waived her preliminary hearing and was bound over to Circuit Court for a May 8 appearance.

Eugene Fowler, alias Eugene Murr, was also bound over to Circuit Court after waiving preliminary hearing on a felony charge of tampering with a motor vehicle.

Miller Otis Martin of East Prairie waived arraignment and preliminary hearing on charges of burglary and first degree stealing and was bound over to circuit court to appear May 8.

Howard Willis Davis of Tiptonville, Tenn. was fined $150 on a charge of driving while intoxicated and $50 for driving while his licenses were revoked, together with $20.05 costs. A 30- day jail sentence was stayed and he was placed on one year probation, under the condition that he stay out of the state of Missouri during his probation period.

Charges of violation of the wildlife code brought fines of $109.32 each to Eddie Murlin Childers, Ira Lee Mosier and Alfred T. Hendrix. Stealing charges against the three were dismissed at $10.69 costs.

A common assault charge against Jerry Weakley brought a 30- day jail sentence and a 30- day sentence given Marilyn McCleary on a charge of insufficient funds check was suspended. Mrs. McCleary was placed on one year probation on condition she pay court costs, obey the law and make restitution of $30 to Ferrell's Super Market. An insufficient funds check charge against Mel Hedge was dismissed on payment of $11 costs.

Other misdemeanor charges and fines included: Jasper William Johnson of Sikeston, speeding, $54; Linda Mae Burrell of East Prairie, no operator's license, $21; Jackie Lee Husk of East Prairie, careless and imprudent driving, $31; Barbara Linn Webb of Wyatt, no operator's license, $26; Kathy Ann Williams of East Prairie, speeding, $29; Kenneth Wayne Farrell of Charleston, no operator's license and using stolen or borrowed plates, $10 on each charge plus $22.55 costs; Donnie Gene Williams of East Prairie, no operator's license, $26; Willie B. Locust of Charleston, public intoxication, $27; and Sidney Dixon of Charleston, operating a motorcycle without an operator's license and without a helmet, $5 fine on each count and $16 costs.

Charges of tampering with a motor vehicle against Maurice Eugene Wright and Thomas Walls both of Bertrand were continued to May 10. Wright was given until that time to employ an attorney and an attorney was appointed to represent Walls. Charges of burglary and stealing against Walls were also continued to May 10.

Other cases continued to May 3 include Jasper William Johnson of Sikeston, unlicensed operator; Larry David Williams, carrying a concealed weapon and exhibiting and flourishing a dangerous and deadly weapon; Billy Gene Dowdy of East Prairie, speeding; Milas Rex Mainord, of East Prairie, speeding; Robert Winston Moore of East Prairie, speeding; and Harry Dean Schneider of East Prairie, inadequate mufflers. A charge of careless and imprudent driving against John Wayne Tatum of Charleston was continued to May 24.

What's the law?

The case of the insulting corpse

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Frank was born into a patriotic family that was red, white and he blew it, according to his grandfather. What's more, his grandfather's charge against him was very specific. It was in the later's will and was read aloud when the old man died. In disinheriting him, Frank's grandfather accused him of having been a draft dodger during World War II.

"It's absolutely false," protested Frank at the reading of the will. "I was no draft dodger. The fact is, I wanted to get into the war in the worst way but the Army classified me 4- F and told me to for- get it."

Indignant, Frank decided to get his share of his grandfather's estate another way. He sued his grandfather's estate for damages on the grounds that the old man's will had defamed him.

"Absurd!" was the reaction of the executor of the estate. "A dead man can't be sued for what he says in his will. Once he's in his grave, only a higher authority can punish him."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the estate pay Frank for the insult contained in his grandfather's will?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that while a person is perfectly free to explain in his will why he has disinherited a particular person, he may not defame anyone in doing so. If he does, concluded the judge, his estate may be held responsible for damages.

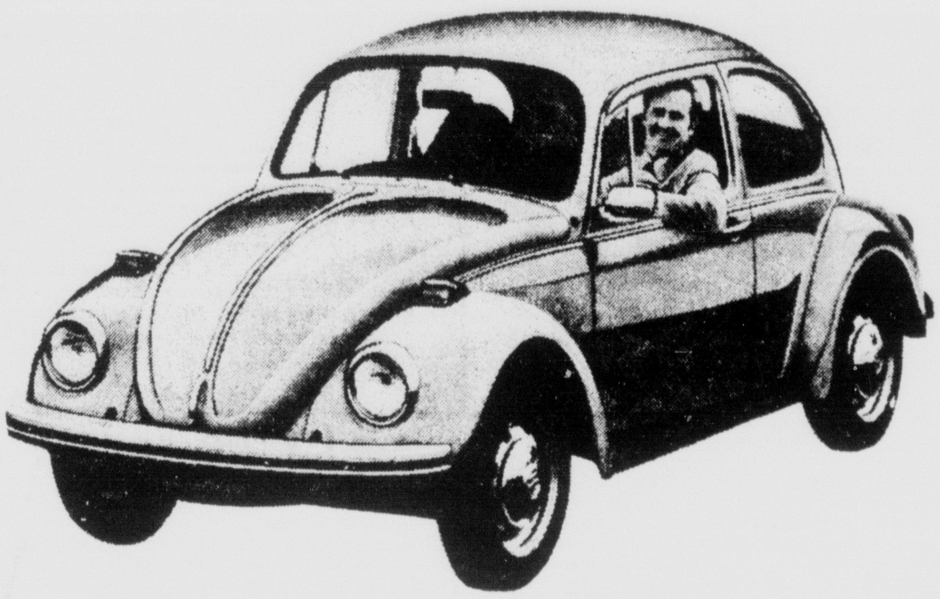
® Volkswagen of America, Inc.

With $125 * down, you'll be sitting pretty



Just a cash down payment of $125, and $71.48 a month for 36 months, * gets you a brand new Volkswagen without destroying your bank account.

(In case you haven't figured it out, that works out to a deferred payment price of $2573.28 which includes a finance charge at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 10.20%.)

So after you buy a new VW, you still have plenty of money to sit pretty with.

Especially since a Volkswagen only requires about 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts.

Or the fact that you never have to buy antifreeze because of its air-cooled engine.

And it doesn't cost you a fortune for gas. About a gallon for every 25 miles  or so will keep it happy.

Now if you're already sitting pretty and you hate to bother with financing, we don't mind if you pay for it all at once.

Then the cash price would be $2334.

* Volkswagen Sedan 111, with standard 4-speed transmission. Credit terms listed apply to qualified buyers only.

Based on DIN 70030.

Dean told federal prosecutors all he knew on April 6 but Haldeman and Ehrlichman apparently balked.

— Presidential spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler said that neither the President nor anyone acting on his authority has approached anyone with the aim of recruiting him to replace present staff members or to direct a shakeup.

Various news reports have said Nixon has asked, or is about to ask, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Larid, NATO Ambassador Donald Rumsfeld or former White House lobbyist Bryce Harlow. Harlow says he hasn't been asked. Laird says he isn't available. Sources close to Rogers say he hasn't been asked, either. Rumsfeld couldn't be reached.

— A lawyer representing two presidential aides in the Watergate scandal shuttled Thursday from the White House to the office of federal prosecutor Silbert.

The lawyer, John J. Wilson, has met twice with Nixon himself. Thursday he had first talked to his clients, Haldeman and Ehrlichman, and then visited Silbert's office for roughly half an hour.
